TWO ADMIT SLAYING OF LOCAL BOY

Man, 23, Youth, 17, Held as Slaying of Wm. Reinking, Confess Attack Which Led to His Death, Police Aver

Fatal Blow Was Struck by Frank August, According to Fellow Gangster; Police Laid for Quick Work

Frank August and Tony Alexander have been arrested as the slayers of William Reinking, 19-year-old boy, who was slain Wednesday night.

The men were arrested following an investigation by Inspector William Kyle, and, according to the police, have made complete confession. Three men held in San Francisco on suspicion will not be brought to Oakland.

According to Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen, Reinking was killed by a blow struck by August for no other reason than sheer rowdiness resultant of the freedom with which East Oakland gangs have pursued a career of lawlessness.

BOY WALKING WITH SISTER. Reinking had been walking with his sister, Miss Ella Reinking, and left her a few blocks away from the scene of the murder. As he passed in front of the morgue he was accosted by the two young men, who, according to the police, who had been in the vicinity of the fatal blow was struck by August, according to the police, while his companion, Alexander, stood at one side and looked on. When the boy fell, striking his head on the curb, the two young men ran off, unpursued by other members of their gang in the vicinity, according to the police.

Alexander is 23 years of age and August gave his age as 17. The latter has been in trouble before, according to the police, having served time in the county jail for petty burglaries and assault with a deadly weapon.

The two young men are said by the police to be members of a gang of hoodlums hanging out in the vicinity of Twenty-third avenue and the police campaign for the extermination of the gangs is now on under direction of Chief of Police James T. Drew.

CONFESSES SLAYING, POLICE CLAIM. Tony Alexander, who was arrested last night by inspectors John Gannaw and Louis Kersch, made a statement to Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen and Inspector William Kyle to the effect that he and Frank August were walking along East Fourteenth street when August noticed Reinking walking along the street.

"August said to me," Alexander declared, "I am going over and slap that kid in the face. I asked August what he wanted to say to the fellow in the face, and said, 'He hasn't done anything to you; leave him alone.' But he didn't pay any attention to me and went right ahead."

"August walked over to Reinking and said, 'Here's where I get even with you.' He beat it to Santa Clara and said he would stay there until it all blew over."

The inspectors who have worked on the case and whose efforts resulted in the arrest of August and Alexander are: A. M. Sanderson, George Burbank, Joe Robinson, William Kyle, Louis Kersch and John Gannaw.

POLICE DECIDED FOR QUICK "CLEAN UP." To Inspector Kyle and his assistants on this case, inspectors Sanderson and Burbank, go the honor for the quick "clean up" of the matter and the capture of young Reinking's assailants, according to a statement issued by Captain Petersen today.

"These three men deserve distinguished mention for the manner in which they handled the case," said Captain Petersen. "When we started to work on the case yesterday there was absolutely no clue to the identity of the murderers. We did not even have a motive for the crime."

"We talked the matter over and decided that it was a case of pure rowdiness and commenced to work from that angle. The district in which it happened is one handled by Sanderson and Burbank and they were called in to assist Kyle. Less than twelve hours after they started to work the case was cleaned up and we had confessions from the murderers."

KILLING UNINTENTIONAL, POLICE STATED. "What charge will be placed against Alexander, Captain Petersen has not determined. According to his confession and statements of persons interviewed, the police say, August struck the blow that killed Reinking and Alexander was an accessory to the crime."

Asked by Captain Petersen today why he should seek to take the life of young Reinking, August solemnly replied: "I didn't mean to kill him. I

DE VALERA SAID TO BE CORNERED

Free State Troops Capture Many Insurgents During Hot Pursuit.

By DANIEL O'CONNELL, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

DUBLIN, July 7.—With recruiting for the Free State army in full swing, and this city normal, except for some sniping, a heavy force of regulars marched southward today to clean up the guerrillas in the southern counties. The regulars met with little opposition and captured many rebels.

Eamon de Valera, commander of the irregulars, is still at large, but the regulars are drawing in upon him. Earside Childers, another irregular leader, is reported severely wounded.

The situation in County Down, where there has been heavy fighting, is reported serious.

LONDON, July 7.—It is reported that Eamon de Valera and Earside Childers, with the Irish rebel followers, have been surrounded in the hills in the southern part of Dublin county, said a Dublin dispatch to the Evening News today.

A Central News despatch from Dublin said that Cathal Brugha, leader of the rebels, had died of his wounds in a hospital at 11 o'clock. Brugha was wounded in the fighting at Dublin Wednesday night.

Free State troops were victorious in a three-hour battle with irregulars at Boyle, according to a Dublin dispatch to the Evening News today.

Blessington, near the border of County Wicklow and County Dublin, has been captured from the irregulars by Free Staters. Early reports put De Valera in that district.

A British warship has dropped anchor in Cork harbor. Cork has succeeded Dublin as the hotbed of rebellion against the Irish provisional government.

TRAIN KILLS THREE GIRLS AT CROSSING

Fruitvale Driver Loses Race to Beat Express Across Intersection in Richmond and All Companions Die

Machine Dragged 100 Yards Along Track and Victims Mangled Beyond Recognition; Man Alone Escapes

Miss Idabel Ward, 20, telephone operator living at 4384 Fairfax avenue, Fruitvale, was today identified as the third Oakland woman victim of the automobile tragedy that occurred in Richmond last night when Ed F. Beeler, 1122 Peralta street, made a futile attempt to race a Santa Fe passenger train over a crossing at San Pablo and Macdonald avenues.

The three young women riding with Beeler, including his sister, were killed instantly. He, however, escaped virtually unhurt, it was discovered today by authorities at the Richmond emergency hospital.

It was only because Beeler's mother, Mrs. Mary F. Beeler, changed her mind at the last minute about going on the automobile trip with her son and daughter and their two young women friends, that she escaped the accident that cost the lives of three of the party.

The dead are: RUBY BEELER, 1122 Peralta street. MARJORIE ADAMS, 816 Lydia street. IDABEL WARD, 4384 Fairfax avenue, Fruitvale.

All three of the young women were employed in the mail office of the Pacific Tele. and Telegraph company in Oakland.

JAUNT TAKEN IN NEWLY PURCHASED CAR. The pleasure journey which resulted fatally for the three young women was taken by Beeler in an automobile he had just purchased from D. S. Wilkerson of Boulder Creek. That a "hoodoo" hovered over the trip from the outset is suggested by the fact that Beeler smashed the front steps of his home as he attempted to drive out of his yard in making the start yesterday afternoon.

The tragedy occurred as the auto party of four were returning to Oakland after having driven to Richmond and visited friends.

AUTOMOBILE DRAGGED 100 YARDS ALONG TRACK. Beeler said today that he failed to see the train approaching the crossing at San Pablo and Macdonald avenues until it was too late either to stop or to turn aside. He then made a desperate effort, he said, to speed up and beat the train over the crossing. He almost, but not quite, succeeded—his automobile was struck in the rear section just as it had all but cleared the tracks.

Miss Beeler was sitting in the front seat beside her brother. Behind her two young women friends occupied the rear seat. The automobile was dragged nearly a hundred yards along the track, and hurled thirty feet into a ditch.

THREE GIRLS MANGLED BEYOND RECOGNITION. The three young women were dead when passersby reached them and mangled almost beyond recognition. Beeler, who was unconscious, was rushed to the Richmond Emergency hospital, where he at first thought he was suffering from a fracture of the skull and internal injury. It was later found that his injuries consisted only of cuts and bruises about the face and body. He returned to his home, 1122 Peralta street, today.

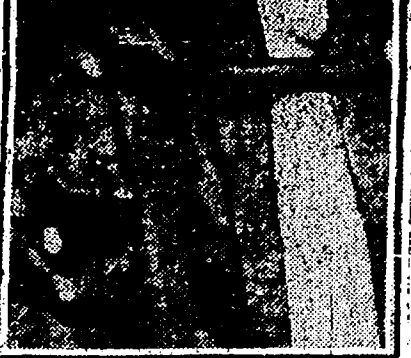

A coroner's investigation was started today to fix the blame for the tragedy. The bodies of the three young women victims of the accident are meanwhile being held at the branch morgue in Richmond.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 7.—Jack Lewis D'Arcy, said to be the husband of Louis D'Arcy, screen actress and the son of a well-known banking family connected with the P. Morgan interests, committed suicide at a local hotel last night by taking poison.

Liquor in U. S. to Last for 25 Years

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. WASHINGTON, July 7.—The United States will not be dry for 25 years, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes today estimated for the United Press.

While the country is theoretically dry under the prohibition amendment, it cannot reach a state of complete aridity until liquor supplies are exhausted.

Approximately 35,000,000 gallons of liquor remain in federal warehouses and at the present rate of consumption for medicinal purposes, it will require 25 years to exhaust the supply.

Bonus Bill Will be Passed: McCumber

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. WASHINGTON, July 7.—"There will be no adjournment of congress until the soldiers' compensation bill has been made a law. It will be taken up and disposed of under a special agreement as soon as the tariff bill is passed."

This promise was made today by Senator McCumber of North Dakota, chairman of the finance committee, to Mrs. H. R. Smith, of Whitman, Mass., who delivered a third petition bearing a million signatures for enactment of the bonus bill.

CLOTURE ON TARIFF BILL IS DEFEATED

Senate by Vote of 45 to 35 Refuses to Back Up the Republican Move to Curb Speeches on the Measure

La Follette Declares Passage of the Bill Will Mean Defeat of C. O. P. in the Coming Fall, '24 Elections

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. WASHINGTON, July 7.—The Republican move today to enforce closure on the administration tariff bill failed today in the senate.

The vote on the motion to enforce the existing rule was 45 to 35, or nine less than the required two-thirds majority.

DEMOCRATS SOLID AGAINST CLOSURE. The Democrats voted solidly against the motion and were joined by five Republicans. The rollcall followed:

For the motion: Republicans—Ball, Burton, Calder, Capper, Curtis, Dupont, Edge, Elkins, Ernest, Fernald, France, Frelinghuysen, Gooding, Hale, Harrell, Johnson, Jones of Washington, Kellogg, Keyes, Ladd, Lenroot, Lodge, McCormick, McCumber, McKinley, McLean, McNary, Nelson, Newlands, Nicholson, Norbeck, Odell, Pepper, Phillips, Poinceter, Rayson, Shortridge, Snoot, Spencer, Sterling, Sutherland, Townsend, Wadsworth, Warren and Willis—45.

Against the motion: Republicans—Borah, Brandegee, La Follette, Moses and Norris—5. Democrats—Ashurst, Broussard, Cawley, Culberson, Dial, Fletcher, Gerry, Harrell, Harrison, Hoar, Jones of New Mexico, Kendrick, Kling, Myers, Overman, Owen, Pittman, Pomerene, Randall, Robinson, Sheppard, Shields, Simmons, Smith, Stanley, Swanson, Tamm, Tamm, Underwood, Walsh of Massachusetts, and Walsh of Montana—30. Total against 35.

DUTY FIXED ON IRISH IMPORTS. After defeat of the closure motion, the Senate rapidly disposed of a number of fish items, fixing the committee reduction from 4 1/2 cents to 1 1/2 cents on dried fish; a rate of 2 1/2 cents on smoked herring; a reduction from 1 1/2 cents to 1 cent a pound on pickled or salted herring and mackerel; and a rate of 2 cents a pound on fresh swordfish and an increase from 25 to 30 per cent ad valorem on fish in oil.

By a vote of 47 to 19 the senate struck out a provision carrying a rate of 32 on black and silver foxes. Such furs for breeding purposes would come in free while others would be dutiable at 15 per cent ad valorem. The house rate was $3.50 on all.

La FOLLETTE OPENS ATTACK ON TARIFF. Opening his attack on the administration tariff bill, Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, a Republican, of the finance committee, declared that passage of the measure would mean the defeat of the Republican party in the elections in November and in the Presidential elections in 1924.

"I don't understand," said Senator La Follette, "how men charged with the duty of upholding and preserving the principles of the Republican party, even if they feel no responsibility to the people who elect them, can deliberately force through legislation which they must know means the defeat, if not the utter ruin, of the party."

"If the elections of 1910 and 1912 and 1914 and 1916 mean nothing to them, then let them look to the Republican primaries held in Indiana, in Iowa, in North Dakota and elsewhere within the last few weeks. For what indeed must be the influences which can bludgeon through this legislation, when the political leaders responsible for it know that it means the defeat of their party and the end of the political lives of most of the leaders responsible for this bill."

Reviewing the political upsets which followed passage of the Payne-Aldrich law, Senator La Follette declared that had not been for the resentment of the people against the Wilson administration growing out of the war and what followed there is no doubt that the Republicans would have returned to power unless self-reformed tariff policy and gave satisfactory guarantees that its reformation was permanent.

Troops Held in Readiness as Violence Spreads; Government Takes Steps to Punish Obstruction of Mails

ROADS AND UNIONS IN DEADLOCK

CHICAGO, July 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Employees of a railroad cannot be compelled to do the work of a striking craft of the carrier although they may do this work voluntarily, the United States Railroad Labor Board asserted in an opinion handed down today.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 7.—J. M. Kurn, president of the St. Louis San Francisco Railway, today issued a statement that "strikers succeeded in driving off 63 men with threats of lynching" at the road's shops in Springfield, Mo., and that "another lot of 28 men were taken away by the chief of police of Springfield shortly after they had been unloaded at our barracks."

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(By United Press.)—Railroad strikers at Marshall, Texas, and De Quincy, Louisiana, will be prosecuted on charges of interfering with the government railway mail service, it was announced today at the postoffice department. Strikers in these places tampered with the airbrakes on trains carrying mail, the department said.

CHICAGO, July 7.—(By United Press.)—Women took the lead today in the fight of railroad shophmen against strike-breakers. Wives and sisters of strikers directed a mob of 1000 which stormed through streets of Burnside, Illinois, in a demonstration at homes of workers. They attempted to burn one home. Women were on picket duty in all shop centers.

SLATER, Mo., July 7.—(By International News Service.)—Although the rail strike situation remained quiet here today, it was reported that National Guard troops at Booneville and Warrensburg, near here, had been mobilized and were in readiness to be sent to this city on short notice.

No attempt has been made to open the shops since eighteen strike-breakers were driven out Wednesday.

GERMANY NEAR TO BANKRUPTCY

Republic Reported About to Declare It Cannot Meet Obligations.

By CARL D. GROAT, United Press Staff Correspondent. BERLIN, July 7.—Germany is about to declare herself bankrupt, it was authoritatively announced today.

Complete collapse of the mark has brought the republic to the verge of financial ruin. The mark slumped to 100 for 19 1/2 cents. Trustworthy sources confirmed the report that Germany must refuse to pay the reparations installment due July 15.

The Weimar government will ask a moratorium, it is stated. BANKRUPTCY DECLARED ONLY SOLUTION. Marks reached new lows on many exchanges today, according to advices reaching Berlin and German financiers declared voluntary bankruptcy the only solution.

Unprecedented nervousness prevailed in Berlin today. The city was without newspapers. As the result of lack of authentic information, baseless rumors spread rapidly.

One report was that General Von Hindenberg and Prince Eitel-Friedrich had been murdered. GERMAN MARKS ARE QUOTED 2400 TO POUND. LONDON, July 7.—German marks were quoted at 2400 to the pound today, a new low record.

NEW YORK, July 7.—German marks plunged to the lowest level in history today, being quoted at 18 cents a hundred, following publication of the German bank statement revealing an increase of 11,250,000,000 marks in the paper currency issue last week. The normal, or pre-war price of marks was 23 1/2 cents each.

PARIS, July 7.—The dollar made a tremendous jump in value overnight on the Paris Exchange market, opening at 127 1/2 francs, as compared with yesterday's closing price of 122 1/2, while the pound sterling sold at 55.50 francs against 54.85.

SEND TROOPS TO STEPHENS

Governor Is Asked by Placer Sheriff and Rail Men to Order Soldiers to Roseville to Aid in Moving Fruit

Executive Tells County Officers to Make Attempt to Control Situation; Heavy Loss Feared by the Tieup

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—Strike conditions here assumed a more serious aspect today. Pickets are reported to have held up a number of workers and caused them to return to their homes. One worker, Frank Clark, was painfully injured in a fist fight with pickets.

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—(By International News Service.)—Demand for troops to proceed at once to Roseville, an important fruit station on the Southern Pacific, 13 miles north of this city, was made today upon Governor W. D. Stephens by a committee headed by Sheriff E. H. Gum of Placer county, who declared the situation resulting from the strike of shophmen was beyond the control of local authorities.

The committee declared an engineer was dying as a result of violence at the hands of the strikers, that 150 cars of fruit were rotting because the icing plant is picketed, and that refrigerator cars are being permitted to move by the strikers.

The governor's office directed the sheriff to return to Roseville and make an effort to regain control of the situation, promising to send troops if he was unable to cope with conditions there.

Governor Stephens is absent and the committee held a long conference with his executive secretary. The committee included W. M. Stone, assistant superintendent of the Southern Pacific, T. J. Dalley, superintendent of the refrigerating plant, L. L. Yates, general superintendent of the Pacific Fruit Express company, and L. S. Kratz, master mechanic of the icing plant. CITY COUNCIL IS HELPLESS, REPORT.

They declared that the city council has failed itself unable to handle the situation and called in Sheriff Gum. He said he was unable to restore order.

They charged that strikers were intimidating workers who desired to return to their jobs with violence and with displaying firearms. "The workers are intimidated," the name of the engineer they reported dying, but said he had been beaten over the head.

They charged that the picketing system of the workers about the Roseville plant was so effective that it was impossible to move any cars and no workers were permitted to pass in or out. STATEMENT MADE BY RAIL LEADERS.

A statement issued by the Southern Pacific delegation calling on the governor for troops follows: "Approximately 25 men comprising shophmen of the Southern Pacific company and the Pacific Fruit Express company, also the ice plant crew at Roseville, are on strike. A large percentage of foremen hard to restrain and carrying firearms are intimidating the remaining employees, threatening bodily injury to men and families, thereby preventing these men from entering the yard."

"About 200 men of those out on strike would be willing to return to work if afforded necessary protection outside the gate. Railroad guards are patrolling and protecting the yards and men therein."

"The ice plant at Roseville represents an investment of over $2,000,000. It is now filled to capacity with 45,000 tons of ice which will be required for refrigerating the fruit shipments of northern California, particularly the green fruit shipments from Placer county now making peak movement."

HEAVY LOSS IN FRUIT THREATENED. "We have orders for sixty cars for soft fruit towing. This fruit will be of little value for shipment unless placed in refrigerator cars within 24 hours after being picked. The total value of the fruit crop now in jeopardy is over $2,500,000."

"The large majority of male citizens of Roseville are railroad union men more or less in sympathy with any strike. The city council has passed resolutions placing the situation in the hands of the sheriff this afternoon, stating they are unable to cope with the situation."

"They are fearful of the result of mob action and have turned the situation over to the sheriff who in turn finds himself unable to recruit sufficient experienced and capable deputies to deal with the mob action which will result from an effort on the part of the company to import men to operate the plant and refrigerate the cars for fruit."

"Immediate relief is imperative in order that the employees will not be molested when returning to work and in order that refrigerator cars can be supplied to prevent loss of crops and damage to property of the railroad property which will result if plant is shut down, with consequent melting of ice in storage rooms."

STRIKE REPORTS OF UNIONS AND CARRIERS CLASH

Claim of Desertions From the Ranks of Shopmen Is Declared False.

Reports dealing with the number of striking railroad shopworkers who returned to work yesterday at the expiration of the Southern Pacific company's ultimatum continue to vary. The strike leaders declare that the strike is 100 per cent effective and that hardly any men returned, but that in many localities the ranks of the strikers received fresh recruits.

J. H. Dyer, general manager of the Southern Pacific, declared that a total of 434 men returned to work at the first shift alone at Sacramento and Los Angeles. This was disputed by L. S. Gordon of the Federation of Railroad Employees, who said that there are but twenty-eight men at the Sacramento shops all told, and that the company's figures include maintenance-of-way men who have not been called out on strike.

The total number of men which the company says have returned to work, is set at 1206 for the entire system.

Only eight men are said to be at work in the Western Pacific shops at Sacramento, out of a normal force of 300. Fifty men are claimed by the Santa Fe to be at work in its Richmond yards, but this is denied by the strikers.

Box cars said to be in "bad order" are arriving at the Bakersfield and Dunsmuir sidings as a result of the strike, according to strike leaders who also claim that the train crews are reporting that their engines are beginning to show signs of breaking down.

J. C. Goad, who has charge of the strike in the Eastbay district, said that the company employed in handling refrigerator cars of the Pacific Fruit Express at the Roseville icing plant had joined the strikers.

Quiet Reigns at Richmond Shops

RICHMOND, July 7.—Following the shooting by Santa Fe guards Wednesday night, when trespassers on Santa Fe property were forcibly ejected, quiet has settled down in the vicinity of the shops. The company is reported as having discharged the two guards who fired on the trespassers, and Sheriff R. E. Venio yesterday did not consider that the situation warranted deputizing any of the strikers as sheriffs.

The strikers claim the shopmen's strike here is 100 per cent effective, but the Santa Fe officials say there are 50 men now working in the shops.

Woman With Gun Guards Her Home; Cows Mob

CHICAGO, July 7.—(By International News Service.)—"I am going to protect this little home of ours, even if I have to kill some one to do it."

This was the emphatic declaration today of Mrs. Julia Gabel, 45, the "Barbarian" of Burnside, who stood guard with a pistol over a little cottage in Burnside and staunchly upheld her husband in his decision to return to work in the shops of the Illinois Central railroad.

At a street corner nearby a score of striking shopmen congregated. Some of them had been members of the mob that attempted to storm the little home last night. Mrs. Gabel, armed with a gun, stepped out on her front porch and defied them. Mrs. Gabel awoke this morning, however, she found that twenty of her flock of chickens were dead—poisoned.

"We've got to pay for our home," said Mrs. Gabel today.

"Our savings are almost gone. We have counted for years on the pension John will get from the railroad. Now they call a year old woman, John is 59, as strong as he used to be. I told him to go back to work."

"I'm going to protect our little home at all costs. If I have to kill someone to do it, I will kill."

Peace Overtures Are Ignored, Say Men

By JOHN J. SPIVAK.

International News Service Staff

CHICAGO, July 7.—Responsibility for the further continuation of the strike of the 400,000 railroad men and the resultant consequences were placed directly upon the strike leaders through their leaders' statements today by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad executives today by B. M. Jewell, head of the strikers, in a statement made to the International News Service.

The strikers, through their leaders, Jewell pointed out, have signified their willingness to meet in conference with authorized representatives with the view of settling the strike leader said, have been ignored both by the railway executives and the labor board.

"Much has been done and can be said," declared Jewell, "regarding the necessity for a speedy settlement of the shopmen's controversy and their relation to work."

"Let it be remembered now and for all time that notwithstanding the fact that we have been and are now willing to meet anyone authorized to advance a proposal or settlement, no such proposal has been forthcoming."

"The shopmen have for more than two years done everything that honorable men with reasonable human intelligence could think of to avoid the situation with which they now confronted and into which they were forced as a last resort. We have evinced a consistent desire and willingness to meet with responsible authorities and our expressed desires have met with no response."

"Hence, the responsibility for the further continuance of this strike, which shall continue to a successful conclusion, is theirs."

RAILWAY STRIKE HAS NOW BECOME ENDURANCE TEST

No Peace Moves Begun and Both Sides Declared to Be Holding Firm.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASSED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The nationwide strike of the railroad shopworkers entered its seventh day Friday with indications that the walk-out had settled down to a "hold-out" struggle. Railroad officials continued to advertise for men to replace the striking employees and union officers carried on in the work of organizing the suspension.

Reports as to the actual effect and completeness of the tie-up were conflicting and altogether indefinite. Many railroads reported that sufficient forces of shopmen were at work to enable them to keep abreast of the normal repair demands of the roads, with prospects for increasing forces as time went on.

Union leaders, on the other hand, reiterated previous claims that the strike was approximately 90 per cent effective and professed no anxiety over the claims of the roads.

Events of the week have made certain that the rail lines have determined to fight the strikers, such action being indicated by nationwide advertising for workers to enter the deserted shops, and the placing of guards around strategic plants throughout the country.

One road, the Great Northern, already has attempted to negotiate with the new employees as an organization, supplanting the shopmen's union outlawed by the federal labor board on Monday.

With the labor board adhering to its announced policy of hands off and the crafts leader, B. M. Jewell, seeking conference with neither the roads nor the board, there seemed today to be not even a promise that peace might come.

Other than by a slow wearing out of one of the parties to the dispute, the strike situation appears to be not affected, nor even imperiled, by the fact that the strike has been discontinued in various sections of the country and in other cases freight runs have been consolidated in an effort to conserve equipment.

N. Y. Central Clerks Vote to Walk Out

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 7.—Railway clerks employed on the New York Central lines have voted to strike, it was announced today by the union officials. The vote was 7 to 1 of the general strike vote by all the clerks on the New York Central lines. The union includes clerks, freight handlers and express station employees. Clerks on the Lackawanna already had voted to strike.

TROOPS HELD IN READINESS TO END STRIKE VIOLENCE

marched at the head of the column as it moved through the streets. Hundreds of stones were hurled at the homes of the men who refused to join the strikers. Curses and cries of "Scab, scab!" were shouted by men and women alike.

The rioters first attacked the home of Theodore Haas, safety device inspector. Every window in the house was broken. Mrs. Haas pleaded with the mob, promising that her husband would join them if they would only spare her home.

A woman ran from the strikers' ranks with a bundle of brooms and struck her man. Again she pleaded with the mob, promising that her husband would join them if they would only spare her home.

The rioters moved on to the home of John Gabel, old-time Illinois Central mechanic. Again stones were hurled. Mrs. Julia Gabel appeared on the front porch, revolver in hand.

"You used to be my friends, but I will kill the next one that throws a stone!"

For twenty minutes she held the mob at bay. The police arrived and after arresting Gird, dispersed the rioters. Seven companies of troops in Urbana, Ill., were ordered to their armories and held for instant service when reports of violence reached state officials.

In the meantime, reports were current that members of the labor board had conferred with rail executives. These conferences were reported for the purpose of obtaining concessions from the railroad managers, which to go to the union leaders.

President H. E. Byram of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul predicted that a strike settlement would be reached by July 10.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 7.—The strike situation at Decatur apparently has quieted down and unless there are reports of renewed violence in connection with the strike of Wabash railroad shopmen there there state troops now mobilized will not be despatched to that place.

NO FUR BATHING SUITS FOR HER

"No, I can't. No fur bathing suits for me. My little knit wool suit is plenty good for me."

"Here, too. I never would think of spending several hundred dollars for a mere bathing suit. Too many other places for all that money, if I ever had it."

"I should say so! I never could get together enough money for a fur coat, not to mention a fur bathing suit."

"Say, if you are dying for a fur coat, why don't you get it now. One usually can get fur coats at attractive prices in summer, and besides one can wear them all the year around in Oakland."

"Really, I do want a fur coat and have been saving up for it, but haven't enough money yet. I know one can often get them cheaper in the summer."

"I should say so! But why don't you go to 515 13th street and look at Cherry's furs. They have some mighty good values, and the best of it is you can pay what you are able and finish payment in monthly installments."

Cherry's store for men is at 525 13th street. Advertisement.

Woman's Crusade For Strike Begun

COLUMBUS, O., July 7.—"A women's and children's crusade" aimed at the morale of strikebreakers, was launched here today by relatives of the 2000 striking shopmen of the Pennsylvania lines here. The women, carrying babies in their arms, picketed the shops as the strikebreakers made their exit. "We won't be violent," said Mrs. Emma Herkovich, a member of the picketing party. "But our husbands need work and we want these scabs to see how they are robbing us."

"Yes, us women are behind our husbands in this strike. We know they are right."

CHICAGO, July 7.—President Jewell of the shop men showed a telegram today received from Mrs. W. J. Johnson, San Bernardino, Cal., wife of a strike leader, saying: "Our children's future is at stake. We will win."

This is typical of scores of telegrams received from auxiliaries of shop workers, Jewell stated.

"The women are the bones, blood and spirit of our strike," he said. "I have nothing but highest praise for them, as they have given 100 per cent support to our 100 per cent walkout."

Stock Broker Dies In Auto Collision

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—F. D. Stevenson, stock broker, living at 797 Bush street, was killed last night when the car in which he was riding with his wife was struck by another machine at Post and Kearny streets. Mrs. Stevenson received cuts and bruises.

The car that struck Stevenson's was driven by Dr. Arthur Reinstein, 3002 Clay street, San Francisco. He was arrested and charged with manslaughter and reckless driving.

Stevenson, who was 50 years old, was connected with the brokerage firm of Hutton & Co.

Strike Leaders To Be Prosecuted

TOPEKA, Kan., July 7.—A State warrant was issued today against T. Huntington, president of the Federated Shop Crafts Union, No. 11, of Topeka, charging violation of the Kansas Industrial Court Act, in issuing the strike order which resulted in the walk-out of shopmen.

MEXICAN COURT RULING CLEARS OIL LAND TITLES

High Tribunal Finally De- clines Right of Confisca- tion of Properties.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The Mexican embassy made public today an information bulletin received from the foreign office in Mexico City, stating that the action of the Mexican Supreme Court on May 12 on cases involving the retroactive phase of article 27 of the Mexican constitution had "established the clear and final jurisdiction on the non-retroactivity" of the article in question. The bulletin added that the court's action had "denied to that article (of the constitution) any confiscatory effect."

Press reports from Mexico City some weeks ago said that two additional opinions as to the retroactivity of article 27 had been handed down by the Supreme Court, completing the five similar opinions necessary under Mexican practice to establish a question of constitutionality.

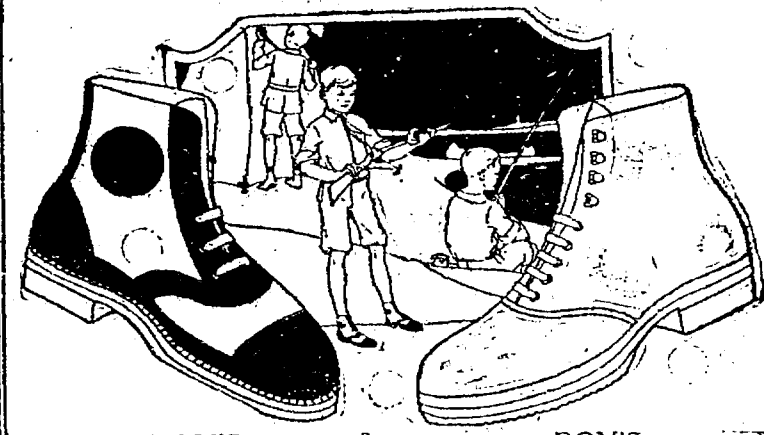

The retroactivity of article 27 involves the ownership of all and other properties held in Mexico by Americans and the Washington government has contended that it could not recognize nationalization of mineral or other resources by Mexico where it was proposed to expropriate property held by Americans prior to the adoption of article 27.

The state department instructed Sumnerlin, charge at Mexico City, to forward the texts of the two additional Supreme Court opinions as soon as available.

The view of the American government as to the extent to which the new decisions may have cleared up the question as between the two countries of necessity will be based, it was said, upon the written opinions when they are available for study.

In the Santa Fe shops here, July 1, the charge is identical with that under which Alexander Howat, department chief of the Kansas miners was convicted. Similar warrants will be issued against union officials throughout the State who transmitted the shop strike order.

FISCAL POLICY OF U. S. ASSAILED BY SEN. BORAH

Declares Proposed Expenditures Will Keep Nation in Debt 250 Years.

WASHINGTON, July 7. (By the Associated Press).—An assault on the fiscal policy of the administration and the legislative program of the majority in Congress was made by the Senate by Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho). He declared the government had failed, except in a most limited degree, to relieve the burdens of the people and that there was ahead a program which would add to those burdens, not only millions, but billions of dollars.

In that program, Senator Borah named the soldiers' bonus, which he calculated would cost from $4,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000; the ship subsidy bill, which he said would cost from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year; while at the same time relieving some special classes of a large part of their taxes; the proposed $5,000,000 loan to Liberia, and the bill to create 25 additional Federal judges.

"The fact is," said Borah, "that the constant increase in government expenditures has reached the point where it has got on the public nerves, and the people of the country are beginning to manifest it in different ways—sometimes in the ballot box, sometimes in strikes, sometimes in riots and bloodshed, and the first and prime duty of a party which has the future of this country in its charge is at all hazards to refrain from increasing expenditure, and, if possible, decrease them."

"If we judge the future by the past, we now have an indebtedness which it will take us more than one thousand years to lift, to say nothing of the constantly-increasing burden. In the way of increased taxes from year to year by reason of the increased budgets, and it is proposed in addition to that which we already have to pay out of hand an extra burden of from $4,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000, which it will take us 250 years to pay off."

Illinois Miners Move To Reopen Collieries

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 7. (By the Associated Press).—Authority to call a special state convention of Illinois coal miners, should the federal government intervene in the nation-wide coal strike, was vested in President Frank Farrington of the Illinois mine workers by his executive board and sub-district officers at a secret session last night, it became known today.

This authorized convention will act upon Farrington's plan for a separate wage contract for Illinois, which in turn will be submitted to the "rank and file" or a vote. This action will be taken, however, only in event the miners and operators all to get together at Washington and the government steps in to bring the strike to an end.

Two Princesses Advertise for Rich Husbands

(By Associated Press)

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 7.—"Two royal princesses, sisters, aged 23 and 26, desire friendship, and eventually marriage, after mutual tests, with English or American gentlemen, who must be young, wealthy and handsome, especially not upstarts or newly rich," reads an advertisement in an Innesbrook newspaper.

"The princesses, who belong to the old royalty, are accomplished but very poor. The gentlemen must give full details and references. A meeting could be arranged for August."

An Austrian archduchess advertised in a similar manner about a year ago and, it is believed, found a suitable husband.

FOKKER AIDS U. S. NAVY IN AIR TORPEDO TESTS

WASHINGTON, July 7. (By the Associated Press).—H. G. Fokker, designer and builder of the monoplane used extensively by Germany in the late war for pursuit and combat duty, is co-operating with American naval designers in experiments looking to the development of a new torpedo plane, the navy department announced last night.

The experiments are being conducted at the Anacostia aviation station and, the department's statement predicted, "should give the naval aviation the best torpedo plane in the world."

Fokker is engaged principally in directing tests of a design of his own, which was described as an adaptation of the German war machine "improved to meet requirements of swift and accurate airplane attacks upon battle-ships." Types of British and American designs are being tested.

Planes are under way at the navy department to hold special fleet maneuvers, when the present tests are completed, in order to try out in actual practice the value of attack by aerial torpedoes, against first class fighting ships.

Taft Pleased at Reception in England

CAMBRIDGE, July 7.—(By the Associated Press).—Chief Justice Taft, nearing the end of his visit to England, has asked the Associated Press to inform the American people of the splendid reception and glowing hospitality he has received from the British. Before leaving tonight for Aberdeen, Scotland, where he will receive another honorary degree, he said:

"My greetings have been so generous and so sincerely cordial that I am unable to find words adequately to convey my gratitude, but I cannot help feeling that England's warm manifestations were not toward me as an individual, but in my capacity as a representative of the millions of Americans overseas."

Taft will receive the honorary degree of doctor of civil law from Aberdeen university.

Attack on School Bond Sale Faulty

SANTA ROSA, July 7.—Efforts of Sampson B. Wright, rancher, to hold up the sale of a $375,000 high school bond issue voted here failed in the superior court when Judge Percy King of Napa, hearing an order to show cause in Wright's suit to enjoin the supervisors from offering the bonds for sale, ruled that the summons was invalid.

The summons had been served on the chairman of the supervisors and the president of the high school board of education instead of on the membership of the two boards.

Wright, in his action, challenged the constitutionality of the state law providing for the annexation of rural districts to high schools for high school purposes.

The bonds have been offered for sale on Monday, July 10.

$30,000 Estate Is Left to Children

The will of Mrs. Maria Wenig of Pleasanton, who died on June 15, was filed for probate yesterday. It disposes of an estate estimated to be worth $30,000, which is bequeathed entirely to her children, Christie Wenig and Mrs. Annie Wenig Gale, both of Pleasanton. The will, written on June 19, 1905, bequeaths a third of the estate in trust to Christie Wenig for Philip Wenig, who has since died. The estate will therefore be divided between the remaining heirs. Superior Judge Robinson has set August 2 as the date for hearing the petition for letters of administration.

Yolo Co. in Favor of Road Assessment

YUBA CITY, July 7.—The Yuba county Board of Supervisors has adopted resolutions favoring the creation of a joint highway district in Sutter and Sacramento counties for the purpose of levying an assessment to provide for the completion of the thirteen-mile gap which would make a continuous highway between Yuba City and Sacramento and shorten the distance between the two cities.

some seven miles. The state has $50,000 available for this work, which, it is estimated, will cost approximately $150,000. The highway extends through Sutter Basin and connections with Natoma boulevard.

Join the Chamber of Commerce Help Oakland Grow Get Busy!

Co-operatively put your shoulder to the civic wheel! Help the Chamber of Commerce to get the $100,000 fund it needs to "sell" Oakland so that Oakland will gain greater business and social assets. Buy a membership in the Chamber. (Roos Bros. belong, of course, and value that membership highly.)

Co-operative hustling makes civic activities hum briskly. That means new industries, new people, new homes, new money spent for both necessities and luxuries.

Roos Bros. early learned that co-operation pays. The more member-stores we have (we have just added our sixth store), the greater the Variety we offer, the Better the Merchandise, the Lower our Prices for Topmost Quality. Apply that business lesson to Oakland--and Oakland will grow, and improve, and profit.

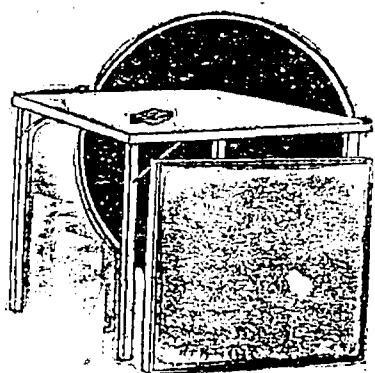

"Ils ne passeront pas!" Other cities must not be permitted to pass Oakland in civic progress. YOU can enlist in Oakland's army of advancement by joining the Chamber of Commerce. Do it! Stockton spends $1.80 per capita for community advertising. Vallejo spends $1.56; Sacramento spends $1.40; Oakland spends only EIGHTEEN CENTS! Let's do better than that!

THREE MINUTE TALES

by Old Schuster WHERE FAIRIES HELP

THE janitor of the Pleasantville school was getting too old for the job. There were so many new contrivances to look after and so many more pupils than in the days when the janitor of these boys and girls went to school. He sat on a box in the basement and looked around. Everything looked shipshape. He wondered why the Board thought he was too old.

At recess the first and second grades crowded around the janitor. He was more fun than the slide and the sandboxes because he knew all about fairies and elves and funny little magic-creatures which helped him with his work. Moreover, he could whistle knives and forks and spoons out of the air and make them fix most anything that was broken.

"It is like this," said the janitor after he had settled a dispute as to which of the littlest ones should sit on his knee, "while you are at work in your classes learning how to be very wise men and women, I go down in the basement and crawl into the woodbox, where it's dark and quiet. I cover my head with a big basket and pretend to be asleep." At this point the janitor always paused to enjoy the moment of breathless impatience and the clamor for him to continue.

Then when they think I'm asleep, little gnomes sneak out of the coal and a pretty gray princess pops right out of the ash-bin. She waves her wand, which is as bright as burning coal, and the elves and the plates come in. There I stay and take my rest while all those fairy people do my work.

Railroad Man Ends Life, Blames Volstead

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—William R. McDowell, 33, a railroad yard man, was found dead in his room at a hotel here yesterday. There was a bullet wound in his head and a pistol nearby. He left a note, reading: "Volstead and all his friends are responsible for this." McDowell was a widower with one child, who is in the keeping of McDowell's mother, Mrs. W. R. McDowell, 4581 Lucky street, St. Louis, Mo.

To look upon Met Ericson in the flesh! The possibility that the body of the explorer who found America 600 years before Columbus did, has been preserved in the ice of the Northland for a thousand years, furnishes the theme of an article in The TRIBUNE's Sunday Magazine.

"White Gold"

White gold is true gold, its only difference from the familiar yellow metal being in color. As a matter of fact it must be purer gold than is ordinarily used in jewelry-making, though it is treated in a special manner. To retain its platinum-like whiteness and brilliance it must be 18-karat gold.

We carry a very large and beautiful stock of white-gold jewelry of all kinds, including a splendid selection of 17-jewel wrist-watches for only $42.50.

Of course our stock includes other fine watches as low as $21.50.

POPE PIUS PUTS IN LONG HOURS IN CHURCH WORK

Prelate Life One of Simplicity, But Marked By Much Labor.

ROME, July 7.—The daily life of Pope Pius XI at the Vatican is marked by simplicity, incessant work and regularity. He labors from 12 to 18 hours a day; sleeps from six to seven, and plays two hours. His meals are taken while he examines his mail or gives directions to his secretaries. His play consists of a vigorous military march seven or eight times around the Vatican gardens, making five or six miles, and this he does rain or shine.

His Holiness takes personal charge of the direction of the affairs of the church, assigning the routine to his secretaries. The diplomatic letters which attracted so much attention during the Genoa conference were the personal work of the Holy Father.

He reads and delivers into the rich collection of Vatican books assiduously. So insistent is he, sometimes, in seeking just the thought he wants that some of the prelates have been compelled to use a "gentle violence" in urging him, when the night has crept far on, to seek repose. His energy astonished the papal household. Recently, when it was suggested to him that he was working far too hard, Pius XI replied:

"You know that when one is made Pope, life is finished. All there is in the hands of God. I will do nothing to preserve my life one day more, but I will work until God says, 'It is enough.'"

The Pope rises at 6:30 o'clock every morning and says mass in his private chapel before breakfast, which is at 8 o'clock. This meal consists of coffee with milk, bread and butter. The mail is brought in while he eats, and the pontiff divides it among his seven secretaries for attention and answers.

HOURS OF AUDIENCES. At 9 o'clock, Cardinal Gasparri, secretary of state, is received in the papal chamber every day except Tuesday and Friday. On Tuesday Monsignor Borgognini-Duca, the pro-secretary for extraordinary ecclesiastical affairs, is received, and on Friday Monsignor Pizzardo, the substitute secretary of state. One hour is assigned to each for the discussion of affairs.

At 10 o'clock the Pope commences his private audiences, receiving cardinals, bishops, prelates, high civil personages, diplomats and nobles. These conferences last until 1 o'clock, when the public audiences begin. For an hour the Holy Father receives pilgrims, associations and various organizations who come to Rome to pay homage to him.

At 2 p. m. the master of the papal household, Monsignor Caccia-Dominione, is received and places before His Holiness the list of audiences for the succeeding day and asks for their approval.

The Pope lunches usually at 2:30. While he eats alone there are several of his secretaries present to receive orders and discuss matters particular to their charge. The pontiff also has additional letters read to him and gives instructions for the replies. His Holiness is a great lover of rice done in the Milan style. Then follow cullets, or perhaps chicken. But the Pope is not exacting; he has never been known to refuse any dish placed before him. A few vegetables and some fruit complete the meal.

WORKS AS HE WALKS. A feature of the day which is never neglected is the walk. Promptly at 3:30 p. m. the Pope enters his carriage and is driven to the gardens. Here he walks five or six miles briskly. Even on this tramp there is work. His Holiness will have at his side some prelate with whom he wants to confer. He will go into full details of the matter in hand while walking and issue his instructions.

At half past five the pontiff returns to the papal apartments. Audiences begin again and he receives cardinals, archbishops and other prelates in private audience.

These conferences are scheduled to end at 9:30 o'clock, but on occasions of importance they continue much later.

Supper is served as a rule at 9 o'clock. This too, is very simple, consisting of only one or two dishes. After supper Pius XI goes to work again. At this hour he devotes himself to the composition of important Vatican communications, later going to the library to read and work. On one occasion recently he kept the library lights burning until 1 o'clock in the morning.

REPARATIONS AS MORAL ISSUE, IS PROFESSOR'S PLEA

Centre Declares That France Is Forging Great Problem With Energy, Courage.

Referring to the reparations problem as a moral issue which must be settled before solutions to other vital questions can be established on a firm basis, Professor C. Centre, chairman of French literature and history in Sorbonne University, Paris, addressed the Rotary Club at the Hotel Oakland yesterday on "Present-Day Conditions in France."

Professor Centre is an exchange professor at the University of California. "We need cheerfulness and optimism and other qualities of Rotary in France," he said. "I do not mean this as an echo of complaint from France, for the French are facing a great problem with energy, courage and resilience. In the past three and one-half years since the armistice France has worked to restore the devastation wrought by the Germans. She has restored the whole of the devastated ground to cultivation, and, to a very large extent, the territory will yield a fine crop. About two-thirds of the factories have been rebuilt. The total cost of reconstruction in France so far has been eighty-five billion francs."

TAXES LESS IN GERMANY.
The speaker declared that the taxes in Germany were much less than in France. He stated that Germany has busied herself building new railroads and constructing a new canal and otherwise spending money instead of paying off her war debt. "France cannot see that justice has been done here," he said. "France thinks that if there had been unity among the nations in peace as there was in war, no nation would have dared to defy the rest of the world. The necessities of France," he said. "She is bending her energies to establish trade relations, which in itself is a fine thing; but the just means of doing so would be to solve first of all the moral and material problem which rests on reparations. FRANCE'S AIM IS PEACE. "France has been accused of militarism and the desire of domination. This is an insult to France, whose aim and ideal has been that of peace. We have an army, just as England, a sea power, has a navy. "We know that the Germans have ammunition hidden and that they have great chemical resources at their command, which suggest the possibility of waging a terrible war with unheard of weapons. "We must find a practical solution of this moral problem. Do not believe that France has not made concessions and that she is not ready to make more concessions." Professor Centre said that the low exchange value of the mark has made it possible for Germany to place her goods on the world market on a large scale. The money, he declared, remains for the most part in American and other foreign banks, where the German government can levy imposts on it only in an extremely small degree. He suggested that an impartial committee from America or elsewhere go to France to take part in the task of making an adjustment. He voiced a plea for "practical idealism," which he declared meant unity in presenting a moral and economic front. "Let me hope," he concluded, "that your spirit of idealism may be revived in another form for accomplishing the work of peace for the sake of America herself and for the sake of the world."

An Italian composer named Scarlatti wrote 100 operas and 3000 cantatas.

IMPERIAL PLANS TO OUST K. K. K.; KERN KLAN QUILTS

Attorney-General Webb Is Asked to Run the District Attorney's Office.

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Active steps to abolish Ku Klux Klan locals and the revelation that the "Invisible Empire" has deserted the Kern county oil fields came swiftly on the heels of the conviction and sentencing of John Vitelle, at Taft, for Klan activities, according to information revealed here today from points throughout Southern California.

Apparently encouraged by the conviction of Vitelle, a movement was started in Imperial county to put the Klan out of business in the Imperial Valley, it was learned.

T. D. McCall, secretary of the Imperial County Taxpayers' Association, announced plans to call Attorney-General U. S. Webb to take charge of the district attorney's office to oust Ku Klux Klan members holding office in the county and to co-operate with Superior Judge Franklin D. Cole in investigating the Klan before a new grand jury.

Information from Taft, according to a signed statement issued by Frank Page, exalted cyclops of the Klan, stated that the Taft local disbanded last June 16 and destroyed their robes following reports that acts of violence had been committed since the Kern county grand jury investigation of alleged activities began.

JOHN W. THOMAS, well-known insurance man of Wilmington, Del., who declares Tanlac promptly overcame his stubborn stomach trouble and run-down condition following two attacks of influenza. Gains weight and now feels fine.

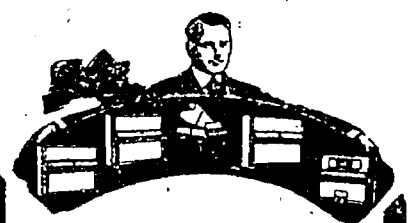

"The flu left me in such a run-down condition life was miserable and work a burden," declared John W. Thomas, well-known insurance man, 600 Tenth St., Wilmington, Del., in a recent statement regarding Tanlac.

"Twice I was a victim of the flu," he continued, "the last time about two years ago, and since then I suffered from stomach trouble, nervousness and dizzy spells. After eating, gas on my stomach worked up through my chest and made my heart beat so fast it alarmed me and I nearly smothered. I could never get a good night's sleep and got up mornings with a mean taste in my mouth and all tired out."

"Other medicines seemed to do no harm instead of good, but three bottles of Tanlac rid me of indigestion, the nervousness and dizziness. My sleep is restful and I am feeling like a different man. Tanlac is certainly great."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

Piedmont Church To Be Scene Of Wedding

Piedmont Interdenominational church is to be the scene of another large summer wedding this month, when Miss Gladys Valera will become the bride of Curtis Beckfeld Atwater, July 21. A large number of invitations will be extended for the affair.

Renner Milley Atwater, twin brother of the bridegroom-to-be, claimed as his bride within the past fortnight Miss Grace Peterson in the same office. He will be best man for his brother.

Miss Valera is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tancered Thomas Valera of this city. There will be five attendants upon the bride, four of whom are sisters of the bride-elect.

Mrs. Henry J. Meyer, who gave a tea at the St. Francis at which the betrothal of the couple was announced a few months ago, will be matron of honor. Another sister, Miss Antoinette Valera, will be maid of honor. Mrs. Leon Barker, Mrs. Elmer Perry and Miss Evelyn Valera will complete the bridal party.

Atwater is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Atwater of Honolulu.

DOUBLE RING SERVICE USED.

The marriage of Miss Myrtle E. Maclean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Maclean of Brentwood, and Albert Leslie Richards was solemnized last Saturday at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Richards of 438 Sixty-second street, Rev. N. L. Gibbs of the Shattuck Avenue M. E. church officiated at a double ring service in the presence of eighteen guests. There were no attendants upon the couple. A buffet wedding supper followed the ceremony.

The bride wore white silk crepe and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white sweet peas, dispensing with the formal bridal veil.

The couple motored to Yosemite on their honeymoon, and will reside indefinitely with the bridegroom's parents upon their return.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from local high schools, and have many friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Shepard spent the holidays at Fort McDowell as the guests of their relatives, Captain and Mrs. Frank Macdonald Ogden, who will leave in September for Georgia, where the army officer will be stationed at the officers' school for nine months.

BETROTHAL IS TOLD AT CARDS.

The engagement of Helen Trexler Baer to William A. Gaw was announced last night at a card party at the home of her mother, Mrs. George B. Baer, 5585 Norton avenue. Miss Baer is a University of California graduate. Gaw is a business man and a well known artist, whose work has recently been on public exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnes Eg-

MISS IONE LONG, a Kappa Kappa Delta at the University of California, who has gone to Los Angeles to spend the summer.

bert are receiving felicitations upon the arrival of a daughter in their home. The baby was born at Merritt hospital June 25. Mrs. Egbert was Miss Annette Feader before her marriage.

Miss Mildred Elam will spend two weeks in Fresno as the guest of Miss Louise Bonner.

The wedding of Miss Laura Sanborn and James Harwood of San Francisco Monday afternoon was a surprise to their friends about the bay. Because of illness in the family, the young couple were quietly married in San Jose, with intimate friends as witnesses to the service. The bride's family is one of the oldest in the state, and their home in Fruitvale has for years been a social center. Mrs. Harwood is a sister of William B. Sanborn, San Francisco business man and Bohemian club member. Har-

PADEREWSKI ON WAY TO EUROPE

Refusing either to deny or affirm the report that he is to be a candidate for the presidency of Poland, Ignace Jan Paderewski, world-famous pianist and former Premier of the Polish Republic, passed through San Francisco yesterday en route to Europe. Paderewski, who has been for the past months at his Paso Robles Ranch, said:

"I am going to visit my old home in Switzerland. I cannot say whether or not I will go to Poland. As to politics, so many questions are asked of me that I cannot answer them."

Considerable importance is attached to the visit to Switzerland which country, it is pointed out, often serves as a temporary political headquarters for various national leaders. Madame Paderewski accompanies her husband. Wood is an attorney and also a member of that club.

Mr. and Mrs. Harwood will reside in apartments across the bay when they return.

Miss Marjorie Moffitt and J. Westley Martin were married at the First Christian Church, Grand avenue and Webster street, last evening.

The attendants were Miss Helen G. McPherson and Harry Hennings Jr.

Miss Moffitt is an attractive Oakland girl and Martin comes from a prominent Oakland family and is connected in business on this side of the bay.

The young couple will spend their honeymoon touring the Canadian Rockies and Alaska and upon their return will build an attractive home in Piedmont Manor.

When the Shinyo Maru sailed July 5 it carried away a merry party of six university students, all of whom are talented musicians, representing the following fraternities: Delta Tau Delta, Phi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu and Sigma Phi Sigma.

The party includes Ralph Bagley, James De Witt, Bradley Henn, Marcus Mallock, William Lenahan and Ray Muller.

They will visit the Hawaiian and Philippine Isles and the principal cities of China and Japan, returning late in September for the fall semester.

The betrothal of Miss Elizabeth Jane Rutherford, daughter of Mrs. Frank M. Rutherford of Truckee, and Erwin Chapman Woodward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank John Woodward of Claremont, was announced informally to friends yesterday. Also the interesting fact that the wedding will be an event of the near future.

Both bride-elect and her betrothed are graduates of the University of California. Miss Rutherford is a member of the Phi Beta Phi society.

Woodward is a Phi Delta Theta and a member of the Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity.

Mrs. Ross Mahon and Mrs. James Hamilton Todd Jr. are sisters of the bridegroom-elect.

Tribune Thanked for Fourth of July Aid

Editor TRIBUNE: Oakland's 1922 Fourth of July Celebration Committee wishes to thank you for the splendid publicity given by your newspaper to the day's celebration. You informed the public fully and adequately of what was planned for its entertainment throughout the day, and gave a great deal of space to all of the events.

Without this cooperation and publicity the day could not have been a success, and for this reason we wish to express to you our sincere appreciation of what you did.

Yours very sincerely,
EUGENE K. SPURDICK,
General Chairman 1922 Fourth of July Celebration Committee.

Threats of Husband Win Wife Divorce

The exhibition of a sharp dagger in Superior Judge A. F. St. Sure's court won an interlocutory decree of divorce yesterday for Mrs. Bessie Woodward from William M. Woodward Jr., an X-ray expert of San Jose. She testified that when she scolded him for remaining out late at night he flourished the dagger, which he carried concealed in his trousers' leg, and threatened to end his life. On another occasion, she testified, he threatened to shoot himself.

She was granted the custody of two minor children and $40 a month as support. The couple formerly lived at 453 South Eleventh street, San Jose.

"Y" Boys to Return From Camp Tonight

The season's event of Camp King Caldwell, the Oakland Y. M. C. A. boys' camp, at Blairaden, in the Feather river country, is a three-day hike into the lakes region. Pictures have just been received from "Bud" Kearns, Oakland "Y" physical director, telling of the completion of this hike of the older boys' camp. The hike took the boys up above the snow line.

The first group of fifty campers will return home this evening, after a two weeks' camp, arriving at the Western Pacific depot at 8 o'clock. Camp Director Fred Abbott, accompanied the boys home, taking back with him tomorrow morning the second campers, who includes fifty younger boys.

FALL COATS — AND DRESSES

They're longer, 9 or 10 inches from the floor, but the new lines require it. The classic style predominates in the draped skirts and the side panel arrangements but they in no way interfere with the straight silhouette. And the colors—Black, Hawaiian Blue, Malay Brown and Point Fox Gray predominates.

Mandarin sleeves as adopted by Jenny of Paris—wider at the wrist than at the shoulder and artfully embroidered in the French style or encircled with fur. Magnificent fur collars—beaver, pointed wolf, squirrel and fox. And the materials are so soft they're almost like short haired furs themselves. There's Medallist, Gerona, Marvella and Panvalain.

Four Pitchers Fail To Halt Sluggers

RICHMOND, July 7.—Four pitchers for the All Standards failed to stop the slugging Mechanical Shops batsmen at yesterday's Standard Oil Twilight League game, the shop boys winning 16 to 1. Except for the sixth inning, which was a blank, the Mechanical Shops batters gathered in two or more runs each inning.

Pinkerton, Frene, Cantu and Morrow tried to stem the tide of Mechanical Shops hits, but failed. For the Mechanics, Kogler went the entire distance. The All Standards gave miserable support in the field.

A doctor who was hurriedly summoned made an examination on the spot and announced that her death was due to too tightly laced corsets.

Alkali in Soap Bad For the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and preparatory shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in cup or glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes abundant lather, rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy; it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your drugist gives you Mulsified. Advertisement.

ELECTION FIGHT HOLDS STAGE AT ENDEAVORER CONVENTION

DELEGATES PLAN HARD CONTESTS FOR CANDIDATES

Special Meetings and Denominational Conferences for Third Day.

The third day's session of the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Union of California, opened at the municipal auditorium today with the theater section jammed with delegates from every section of the state.

With only two more days left before the big convocation will become an incident of the past, state executives and delegates busied themselves with the union's business. Today's business sessions were held mainly to make eleven-hour plans for the election of officers, which will occur tomorrow shortly before noon, and the selection of a site of the international convention, which, it is understood, will come up at the same time.

EXCITEMENT FORECAST.
Every district group of delegates today was preparing to launch an intensive political campaign in favor of their selections for positions as state executives, and an exciting election contest is forecast for tomorrow.

Before the regular session was called to order today by State President Reese Martin of Berkeley, there were a number of special meetings, including quiet hour, bible study, conferences on Christian Endeavor methods and denominational conferences. These meetings opened at 8:30. The quiet hour topic was "Fellowship With Christ Through Bible Study."

The bible classes were in charge of the following: Rev. W. E. Edmonds, "The Christian Life, Filled;" Rev. Frank Merriam, "Jesus and His Teachings;" Rev. Howard McConnell, "Test of Friendship;" Dr. Harry E. Straub, led the conference of county union officers and took as his subject "California Four-square for Christ and the Church." There were other conferences led by all of the state union's superintendents. The conferences met in small groups throughout the auditorium building.

SERIES OF CONFERENCES.
The denominational conferences were made up of groups of Baptists, Christians, Congregational, Presbyterian, United Brethren and another meeting for denominations not listed. The respective leaders were: C. E. Tingley, superintendent of the Metropolitan Baptist Mission Society; Rev. George Tinsley, field secretary of the Christian Endeavor Christian denomination; Rev. Rowland B. Dodge, state pastor; Rev. Bruce H. McDonald, young people's chairman, synod of California; and Rev. Charles L. Duncan, representative of young people's work in Northern California. Rev. C. D. Spencer of Oakland and Paul C. Brown.

The entertainment feature of today's convention session was the presentation of the Tenth Legion playlet, entitled, "Starting Right." The play was under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Rogers.

THIRD DAY'S MEETINGS.
The convention session opened at 11:30 a. m. Every delegate was in the hall and the auditorium theater was packed. Singing under the leadership of Edwin McHenry began the session. Rev. James Cooper, pastor of the Brooklyn Presbyterian Church of Oakland, pronounced the convention prayer.

Christian Endeavor prayer meeting work was presented by Mrs. Martin Farnham, state prayer meeting superintendent. She told of the strides having made in this work during the past year and some of the methods used to overcome obstacles. The meeting adjourned following a solo by Miss Lillian Lundgren.

Following the meeting all of the officers, speakers and delegates grouped about the steps at the auditorium's main entrance where photographers took the official convention picture.

ALUMNI BANQUET.
One of the features of the day was the annual alumni banquet which was held in the main auditorium. Hundreds of members of the Christian Endeavor alumni attended. B. L. Valentine, alumni superintendent, presided at the affair which was for all present or past union officers, and those who have been Endeavorers for ten years or more, as well as alumni members.

A program of music was presented by the men's and women's quartets of the state union.

This afternoon was devoted entirely to recreation. No business or study sessions were held, and the delegates were given an opportunity to temporarily forget the annual convention. There were a picnic and a dance for the ladies at Mosswood Park under the direction of Charles Sprague.

Delegates were taken on an automobile tour through the most beautiful sections of Oakland. The route included a trip over the Skyline Boulevard, C. J. J. Turman, chairman of the automobile committee, was in charge of the sight-seeing tour. Late today there will be a picnic lunch at the willows by Lake Merritt, and tonight, before the convention session, there will be two street meetings.

Tonight's convention session will open at 7:15 o'clock with praise service led by Byron Murditt, with Miss Mabel Denson and Miss Sydonia McKinley at the piano.

The scripture reading and prayer will be by Rev. W. A. Schwinley, pastor of the Calvary Congregational church of Oakland. Announcements will be made by Otis D. Ironmonger, and a male quartet from the First Presbyterian church of Berkeley will render the offering.

Workers in Christian Endeavor Field

Visiting Pastors Will Preach in City Pulpits

In order that the people of the city may have an opportunity to hear some of the ministers who are attending and speaking at the thirty-fifth annual convention of the California Christian Endeavor Union, in session here, the committee in charge of the meeting has arranged to have them give a number of sermons from various churches Sunday.

This was announced today as one of the newest features of the state session, by committee men, who said that it would give persons who are not delegates to the convention a chance to listen to some of the meeting's orators.

Rev. Daniel A. Polling, acting president of the Christian Endeavor Society of the World, and pastor of the Marble Collegiate church of New York, will preach at the First Presbyterian church, Twenty-sixth street and Broadway, Sunday morning.

Rev. Edgar E. Strothers, of China, will preach at the same time at the Calvary Congregational church, Thirty-sixth and Grove streets.

Other ministers at the convention who will conduct Sunday morning services at some of the city's churches are:

Rev. Royal J. Dye, D.D., at the First Baptist church, Jones and Telegraph.

RETIRING HEAD OF UNION LISTS HOPES FOR WORK

The things he hopes the convention will accomplish, according to the retiring head of the Christian Endeavor Union, in convention, prior to going out of office tomorrow.

They are:

"That in all things He might have the pre-eminence. Our whole desire and purpose in presenting this program is summed up in the words of this verse.

"That all Bible study classes and morning sessions, occurred shortly before noon. A regular casket, draped in deep mourning and carrying labels of "Gone and forgotten," was wheeled out on the auditorium stage and formally buried. Howard Brown, one of the Bible class officers, dressed in a black coat and wearing huge tortoise-rimmed glasses, played the part of minister and read the burial service.

Cheers from the thousands in the convention hall greeted the burlesque funeral.

Brown explained that heretofore the Bible class committee has been carrying along several "dead" classes, and that the mock burial,

J. STITT WILSON WARNS AGAINST CLASS INJUSTICE

Tragedies of Nations Are the Issues of Property, Says Speaker.

Before an audience composed of every one of the 6000 delegates to the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Union of California, J. Stitt Wilson, former mayor of Berkeley, delivered the principal address of last night's session in the Auditorium theater. Wilson spoke on "The Supreme Issue Confronting the Christian Endeavorer," and warned against social injustices.

The meeting opened with a song service. The scripture and prayer was by Dr. John S. Hays, pastor of the First Baptist church, Oakland. The presentation of evangelistic work was made by Glen D. Right, evangelistic superintendent.

AGE OF WONDER.
"Our age is the age of iron, the age of electricity, the age of machine," said Wilson. "We have had 150 years of the fiercest industrial strife and competition in the history of mankind. The world is being torn apart by the struggle for power and credit. The powers of money and credit have been thrown into the terrific battle for economic power. We are rapidly approaching the culmination of a cycle of that fierce competition and industrial strife and monopolistic control of industry and finance and business."

NOT FACING THEORY.
"We are not facing a theory, but a condition. If, as some are expecting, Christ should come in our days in the flesh, to establish his kingdom, it would be impossible unless the golden rule and the law of love and the sermon on the Mount were applied to the use and administration of the institution of property. The church cannot take one single step forward except by facing this bloody issue."

"Man's relation to his brother man in the use of property has finally now become so acute and so severe and so materialistic and full of mammonism, that nothing can save either the church or the world, except to firmly face and heroically solve this terrible situation which we have developed."

CLASHES AT GENOA.
"The clashes at Genoa were over property. The ominous portents arising now over The Hague are over property. The tragedy of the nations are now issues of property."

"There might be summoned for your consideration the witness of scores of careful thinkers to tell you that there is grave danger that our whole civilization may collapse. There is justification for this deep sense of insecurity. We must live to see while nations bankrupt, live to see while humanity weathers in bloody upheavals, and the highest achievements of man's long evolution are thus perverted, false, un-Christian, materialistic struggle of men and classes and nations over property becomes a fearful climax, acute and coming."

ISSUE IS GRAVE.
"This issue of the just use, control and administration of every civilization is so grave, so serious, so menacing that it should not be left to agitators and extremists and radicals, on the one hand, or ruthless march of power and privilege seeking their own ends on the other hand."

"Our powerful financial leaders should remember that every civilization in history that fell to ruin was destroyed when a ruling aristocracy or plutocracy, drunk with power, forgot human welfare and wickedly cared for nothing but their own gain and power. Our own America must heed these lessons of history."

MUST FACE PROBLEM.
"Therefore, if it is the business of real patriots and real Christians to frankly face this grave issue and seek to solve it. Every man, woman and child should hold it up for the frankest discussion and consideration."

"And it is a tragedy that in our political campaign for senator and governor, and even for the presidency, these terrible questions are evaded and side-tracked and waded at, until industry and wealth and the face. Witness the disastrous coal strike and the still more disastrous railroad strike as illustrations of the outcome of make-shift tactics and neglect to go to the bottom of these grave property issues. Only at the eleventh hour, the President has asked for a showdown on the coal strike."

APPEALS FOR STUDY.
"I make a plea that you, as Christians, improve this Christian convention to face and study the question in the light of the spirit and teachings of Jesus."

"No single agency has a machine equal to that of the Church for bringing home to the mind and conscience of the people the real nature of the danger now so menacing to the safety of mankind. What service to God could equal this service to man?"

Oakland's Beauties Win C. E. Girls 1937 Delegates Are Rehearsing Gov. O. H. Shoup Unable to Come

Miss Thelma Thoning of Crows Landing and her sister, Miss Hazel Thoning, of Mt. Vernon, Wash., came to Oakland for the sole purpose of attending the Christian Endeavor convention. Today they announced that they were going to return to their respective homes just long enough to pack up and move permanently to Oakland.

The young women arrived here Saturday and went to stay with friends at 1506 Linden street. During succeeding days they saw the miles and miles of beautiful homes and streets, Lake Merritt sparkling in the sunshine and all the other things the Chamber of Commerce is fond of describing. Today they declared to friends among the convention delegates that their entire plans for the future had been changed by their visit here.

"We're going to come back here and live the rest of our lives, just as soon as we can make the necessary preparations," they asserted. A hearty welcome was extended the sisters by the members of the Oakland convention committee.

Although the Eastbay public is well aware by this time that the 1937 Christian Endeavor convention is being held in Oakland, there are comparatively few who realize that the organization's 1937 convention is being held here at the same time. But if you run across Ray C. H. Martin, vice-president of the Oakland convention committee, around the auditorium he is more than likely to ask you if you would like to postpone your visit to the 1937 convention and have a look at that of 1937.

"You can't help following him after that and he will lead you down the south corridor of the auditorium to the room where a large group of young men and women are gathered, the room full of youngsters of all ages, but with a general average of about 16 years."

"There," Ray will tell you, "is the nucleus of our 1937 convention. They're just rehearsing now!"

should be taught the nature of social injustices. No church member should be less in ignorance of the elements of the property problem. It is the word of God to this generation."

STREET MEETINGS HELD.
Street meetings were held last night before the main session opened. The meeting at Ninth street and Broadway was led by Robert G. Rogers, general secretary of the Christian Endeavor Union in China, was the speaker. Rev. Harry Rimmer was the speaker at the street meeting held at Tenth street and Broadway.

At the conclusion of these meetings, the delegates marched in a body to the auditorium.

Junior Christian Endeavorers enjoyed a special session late yesterday. "Our Variety of Pep," was the title of a program given under the direction of Miss Mary G. Brown, State Junior superintendent. Motion pictures of interest to juveniles were also shown.

ADDRESSES MISSIONARIES.
Later in the day Rev. Strothers addressed the mission group and told of some of the problems facing the missionaries in China. The missionary section was under the supervision of Miss Pearl Benson, State missionary superintendent.

Among the delegates were a group of Chinese children. Prominent among the younger members at the junior session was Mildred Searl, 11-months-old daughter of Garner Searl, and the youngest visitor at the convention. Special music by the national Christian Endeavor, and a motion picture, "A Corner in the Big Vineyard," took up the latter part of the program.

At present about 30 different Protestant denominations are concerned in Christian Endeavor work, according to officials of the Oakland convention. The church which supplies the greatest number of members to the organization is the Methodist Episcopal, with the Presbyterian church next, and after that the Baptist. Although each of these three churches has its own denominational organization, such as the Epworth League in the Methodist church, it is pointed out by convention leaders that each has more members in Christian Endeavor than in any other organization that is particularly its own. The total membership in Christian Endeavor unions throughout the world is approximately 5,000,000. One of the organization's best known members is President Warren G. Harding.

MILLION WILL BE SPENT ON ROADS

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Approximately $100,000,000 will be spent for good road construction throughout the country during the fiscal year which began July 1. This will be brought about by the continuation of Federal aid for roads under recent authorization of an appropriation of almost fifty million dollars for distribution among the several states. Under the conditions of the aid each state must match the sum allotted it.

At the same time, the postoffice appropriation bill signed by President Harding June 18, authorized appropriation of $65,000,000 for the same purpose, to be expended during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1923, and $75,000,000 for the succeeding fiscal year. The conditions are the same, for all three years, and will bring the total amount expended during the period, if the state adhere to the stipulations and expend like sums, to $30,000,000. The funds will be administered by the Secretary of Agriculture through the Bureau of Good Roads.

Put and Take Players Victims of Swindlers

NEW YORK, July 7.—Swindlers, always looking for victims, have found an easy way to practice their cunning in the game of "put and take." One top the swindlers use is genuine, but at a critical moment, the gamblers sharpers clip in a loaded top which inevitably turns up "take all."

$100 Reward

A reward of One Hundred Dollars is hereby offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the persons who abandoned a Ford Laundry Truck, painted black and without any signs upon it, at the Water Company's gate at Lake Chabot, about 7:10 o'clock on Monday morning, July 3rd, 1922. Said Ford Laundry Truck contained the safe stolen from Louis' Grill, 1741 18th street, Oakland, Calif. Two men were seen descending said Ford truck about 7:10 a. m. Monday, and left with a touring car which had followed the truck. Also said safe was broken open by sledge hammer and chisel somewhere in Oakland, sometime between 8 and 8 a. m. after the robbery, and anyone having been disturbed or heard loud pounding during those hours, kindly notify LOUIS' GRILL & BAKERY, 1741 18th street, Oakland, Calif. An Unusual Talcum Powder

Some time ago the Lawson Drug Co. concluded there was a market for a Talcum Powder of a superior quality. Every ordinary talcum seemed to be unsatisfactory in some particular. Chemists were put to work on the problem and succeeded in producing the desired quality, but at about twice the cost of regular talcum.

The powder was placed on sale, nevertheless, and within a year became so popular that the volume of business brought the cost down to that it could be sold profitably at 25c a can. It is called Vergo Violet Talcum. It is a true violet odor.—Advertisement.

Queen Alexandra Is Active At 78

LONDON, July 7.—Queen Alexandra, the queen mother, now in her 78th year, is far more active than most women of her age. She might take life far easier than she does, but she evidently is opposed to the idea of being laid on the shelf.

She likes to show herself among the people, and she is gratified by the applause with which her appearance always is greeted.

She crowds many activities into a day. One day recently she appeared in public at the Cart Horse parade for prizes in Regent's Park; then at a concert in aid of workshops for disabled soldiers, and finally at the Richmond Horse Show. But she makes two concessions to advancing years. She seldom goes out of an evening and she goes to bed early, usually playing a game of "Patience" before retiring.

Oregon Athlete Wins Distinction in Study

EUGENE, Ore., July 6.—Ralph Spearow was the best all-around track and field athlete at the University of Oregon this year, with records of 23 feet in the broad jump, 15 feet in the pole vault and 5 feet 11 inches at high jumping. But this distinction didn't stop there. Spearow won honors carrying a heavy course in the psychology department.

Neither did he devote all his time to his studies and athletics, for he had the support of his family to think of also. He attended to that by being the regular pastor of the Presbyterian church at Cottage Grove, a nearby city.

Spearow, who is 23 years old, will be a junior at the university next year.

Materialization Fails in Presence Of 3 Scientists

PARIS, July 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Experiments in metaphysics by Mme. Bisson, with the aid of the noted medium E. J. J., officially supervised in the Sorbonne laboratory by Professors Lapicque, Georges Dumas and Henri Pierson, gave an entirely negative result, according to the official report of the supervising committee, which will be published tomorrow.

Sessions, organized by Paul Henze, author of "The Dead; Do They Live?" have been in progress since March, and have given rise to unofficial reports of remarkable cases of materialization. The supervising scientists, however, say: "The experiments produced results that can be characterized only as entirely negative."

The committee recognized the good faith of Mme. Bisson, who admitted that the report was in accord with the facts, but she claimed that the medium was not in possession of all her faculties and that the experiments were insufficiently prolonged to be fruitful.

On two occasions a glistening substance was observed protruding from the medium's mouth during trances, but was regarded as not amounting to the promised materialization of substances of various forms coming from the body.

Menace in Poland Seen by General

CHICAGO, July 7.—Major-General George Bell, commanding the 51st corps area, U. S. A. declared in a speech yesterday before several hundred listening men that the present Polish situation is the growing menace of another war that will draw in the United States. Hanford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, another speaker, pledged every member of the 11,000 posts of the American Legion to take up arms whenever called upon.

"There never was a time in the history of this country when we needed the service of red-blooded Americans more than we do today," General Bell declared.

"An officer high in the army of Germany now is inspecting the Russian troops and it was announced today an army of 350,000 is being mobilized on the border of Poland and Lithuania."

JAPANESE WARN CHINA TO STOP BANDIT ATTACKS

Otherwise, Troops Must Be Sent to Trouble Area, Tokyo Says.

TOKYO, July 7 (By the Associated Press).—Japan has warned the Peking government that, owing to danger from bandits to Japanese residents at Chientao, if China fails in her duty to protect Japanese in the Chientao region, the necessity of doing so might "compel" reluctant Japan to dispatch troops to the affected territory.

An Associated Press despatch from Peking yesterday reported that Japanese Minister Obara at Peking had protested to the Chinese foreign office against a bandit attack on a Japanese consulate near Chientao June 28, which resulted in the burning of a portion of the consulate and the deaths of two Japanese.

Japanese troops were stationed at Chientao until recently.

Swim at LAKE ORINDA

ONE HALF HOUR FROM WORK TO PLAY

This tiny lake and surrounding park, a natural playground for adults and children, are restricted to the exclusive use of owners of Cabin and Cottage Sites in Orinda Park Terrace.

If you love the outdoors you will want one of the acres or half-acres that make up this tree-covered hillside. It's the ideal place for your summer or week end home.

Lake Orinda is unlike anything else in the East Bay district. It is to Oakland and Berkeley what Marin county is to San Francisco—equally beautiful but more accessible, 30 minutes from 14th and Broadway.

Drive out Saturday, Sunday, or any day in the week. Bring a picnic lunch and let the children play by the lake while you tramp over the property. You'll find many sheltered retreats that you will want to buy for your cabin or cottage.

Over the Tunnel road, thru the tunnel and turn to your left after passing Oak Villa.

There is nothing so restful and satisfying as a quiet spot in the hills. That is the spirit of Lake Orinda.

BEAR'S KISSES CAUSE NEAR RIOT ROUSE SLEEPER,

GROVELAND, July 7.—When a strange lumberjack, who disappeared without giving his name, awoke, he yawned, for standing over him was a big brown bear complacently licking his face. His yells broke up the Groveland dance for half an hour, while the merry-makers hurried to the scene of the commotion. There they found the big lumberjack and the bear. The latter is a town pet and, while hanged at the state penitentiary as a kitten, it seems the woodsman, having hoisted a heavy cargo of strange liquids aboard, had somehow gotten into the enclosure and gone to sleep. Bear experts think Bruin liked the odor of his breath.

Slayers of Oregon Sheriff Are Hanged

SALEM, Ore., July 7.—John Rathio and Elvin D. Kirby were hanged at the state penitentiary here today for complicity in the murder of Sheriff T. H. Taylor at Pendleton, Ore., in July, 1930.

UNMERGING OF PACIFIC LINES IS ADVOCATED

F. G. Athearn, Counsel for U. P., Says Court Decree Should Stand.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—It is not within the power of the Interstate Commerce Commission to recombine the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific systems, recently ordered unmerged by the United States Supreme Court, Fred G. Athearn, counsel for the Union Pacific system, declared today in a speech before the Commonwealth Club.

He urged that competition would be the most beneficial thing for California, Nevada, and Utah. He charged that when the Southern Pacific planned to sell the Central to the Union Pacific in 1913, President William Sproule testified before the State Railroad Commission that California would benefit through competing rail systems in Central and Northern California. He said that at that time all of the "imaginary difficulties" now being urged by the Southern Pacific were quickly smoothed out.

Athearn declared "there would be competition in service. Rates are regulated, but service, such as the sending out of agricultural experts to aid the farmer, industrial agents to induce the location of manufacturing plants along the lines of the railroad, the building of branch feeders to develop the resources of the country and purchase new traffic, the quick handling of traffic, fast train service, the prompt supplying of empty cars for shipments, courteous treatment of the public and the prompt and agreeable adjustment of claims for damaged goods—all these things are matters which are not regulated but constitute a class of services that builds up a community," he said.

"Northern and Central California, because of lack of competition, have never had this kind of service during the control of the Central Pacific by the Southern Pacific. They would do well to take a leaf from the book of Los Angeles, where three competing lines tap the territory."

The truck was registered in the name of C. A. Petersen of Berkeley and the machine which it struck was driven by Hubert L. Wolfe of Lathrop. The driver of the truck sustained minor injuries to his right arm.

SHIPPING MAN DIES. EUREKA, July 7.—H. H. Bousinos, 65, one of the best-known shipping men on the Pacific Coast and founder and president of the Humboldt Stevedore Co., organized about 25 years ago, is dying after a long illness, it was announced at his home here last night.

UNIVERSITY HEAD RETIRES. ST. LOUIS, July 7.—The resignation of J. C. Jones, president of the University of Missouri, was accepted by the Board of Curators of the institution yesterday. Absolutely Nothing Held Out

567-571 14th Street

CHERRY'S

OAKLAND

DAILY OAKLAND TRIBUNE

Geraldine's SHOULDER

Listen, World!

THEY were celebrating the days of '49 in Sacramento. For a month they had grown whippersnappers, farmers, shop keepers, lawyers and clerks of that sunny river town. For a month their wives and sweethearts had worn hoop skirts and pantaloons to the accompaniment of giggles and jaz records. It was to be just another holiday time such as if forever forthcoming in a rose wreathed, laughing land. But when the day dawned on a modern city transformed into a great mining camp, it was not a holiday. Something moved in the streets of the city that came not at invitation of man. Something called in their hearts with a voice at once strange yet intimate as their mother's face. The Spirit of '49 was alive again in the blood of its descendants. Without effort or self-consciousness, life turned back on itself that a great, though light by reason of confusion of a war wrecked world, through the jumble of overturned illusions and the din and bewilderment of conflicting codes, the old, simple spirit again—to clear the trail.

It was not a procession that came down that street as the ox carts creaked on their way, and hooded pioneers stalked in danger, and the old hand touching an old voice calling—a light that has grown dim shining once more for its children in their need. And midway they passed, two little old ones, and in arm. He in tall hat and wrinkled, bell skirted coat. She in a mulberry satin, bodiced and bustled and ruffled and frilled. Feeble and old and gray they tottered down the street they had given their youth to build.

Suddenly the cheering died away and the sunny air was still. As though a Mighty Hand had

When I first built this column I decided that Good Sportsmanship should be its fundamental creed. To the full limit of my ability I have kept that now. I have printed criticism as frankly and fully as I have printed praise. In fact, I have printed it much more fully. Very often I omit letters of eulogy that others may have their place.

In accordance with this principle I am about to print the following letter—with an apology. The apology is to you whom, with a great love and respect, I call "Jerry's Gang." The following letter is not fit to set before you, but because it is the return to my most bitter denunciation of a former letter by the same author, I cannot but print it. I have printed it because of its right to speak. I ask your forbearance for the intrusion of such verbal rotteness on a column you feel is yours.

And now a word to you, R. W. Ardri. I have explained my reason for printing your letter, but I warn you I shall not again allow you to defile this column. The things you may think or say about me matter not an iota. But no man with such diseased ideas of women in general is going to be allowed to defile this column by the vilest of names. I shall not call you again. It will be the waste basket for yours. Whether you respect women or not, here is one with sufficient authority to put you exactly in the place where you belong. With the trash!

And now, since I have refused to print further utterances from this man, I must, in fairness, announce that neither will I print further criticism against him. It would not be fair to accept censure when rebuttal is denied.

"Jerry:

"Do not think I am sarcastic, or attempting any of the verbal thuggery you displayed in answering my letter. The term leaked from my pencil and let it go at that. I was a 'called' intellect than mine that stepped into the breach. Shirtee Masusle would say it was a matter of wisdom—I, too, am a kind of a searcher of the soul.

"You, in your crude ratiocative colloquialism accused me of being a human skunk. Again you err. The office of a skunk necessitates that stripping is proper—and excusable—how can I be likened to the animal when I adopt an anti-theft position? Trust I may ally your anthropologist and puny mind by elaborating—if you will be no kind—upon my statements. You, in resorting to abuse, in touching upon the personal equation—and not the problem—betray a shallow depth of mind, so shallow that a blind thing but could see what gray substance you supposedly possess, and if you harbor beneath your atavistic skull, his shape would resemble a cipher. Your 90 per cent shunt from logic, your digression about the flapper is purely in consequence with your character, I believe. You profess to have a Bible. Open it. Read wherein God said that the first commandment demarcates against ANYTHING of ANTI-NATURAL usurping His place in the mind of man.

"This is why, you shallow-pated I mean flat skulled automaton—as a sentinel for Law, an outpost of Spirit—insists upon its observance, whether it be an abrogation of Law by man or nation—or whether the shilly-shally hollow-headed flapper personifies vanity. Vanity in womanhood is Greed in Man. Social inequalities, poverty, crime, prostitution—WAR are proper synonyms and absolute corollaries of VANITY. Christ was crucified because of GREED. When ADAM ate the forbidden fruit, 'The Prince of this world cometh,' Judas, the personification of Greed, appeared and the hosts of the enemy (the errors) rolled in. GREED (the forgotten) followed Judas. Take again your Bible.

"When Adam was asleep and the Lord God wished Eve on him, it is quite evident she was naked. If you justify the flapper, if you will, on this point, BUT "Eve was unconscious of a bare leg or an exposed torso, AND SO leg or torso was not a factor in her thoughts, when her own fleshly carcass became her obsession, then HELL began, and we've been having it ever since. I contend that when woman utters upon the heel of the serpent (she must undo her error) when man 'steps on the neck of woman' (personifying vanity) this of our social order, our 'civilization' will be abolished. You cannot justify the flapper. When I said she was an embryonic prostitute, I meant to say she was a creature that way only fortunate circumstances will prevent it. You editing, preaching pusillanimous pedler of poo-bab patriotism, send the flapper on her way, and let her fall for the fo-le-rols of fashion. You are both bitten by the same bug—you strike the same note in different degree, but still you troop behind the dame that donned the first fig leaf.

"Sixty-five thousand girls 'disappeared'—dropped into the dark deep pit of prostitution in the United States since 1900. The more of the American divorce mills gristly-grind, and 'cruelty' is the ally. Good Jesus, what JUSTIFIABLE grounds do you allow divorce upon?

"Monkeys, Pomeranian pups, frizzled, frilled felines 'cuzzle close to mother'—and blinking, bewildered babies are left on doorsteps—deserted while the THING that brought the little souls into sorrow sinks into the dark—body just calls her. Through it all runs the thread of VANITY—self-love. Cuckoo, caged under THE TRIBUNE cloth—if you would look into your Bible, not for Jerry's justification, nor for a Book of Fashions (which Jesus' mother was barefooted or had hob-nailed sandals, is inconsequential) you would materially prevent the lachrymal leakage, BUT, here hangs a tale. "R. W. ARDRI."

N. E. C.—My dear young lady, if I knew any sure-kill love methods I wouldn't need to write for a living. Moreover, let me warn you that your professed enjoyment of my column is apt to cease suddenly if you ask me any more such fool questions. For, like's not, I'll go off my head and bite the Main Boss of this establishment, and thereafter they won't be anything thrilling to read except the patent medicine ads. So desist, young woman, desist. Don your own wrapping. I always managed to do mine without any journalistic advice.

My Marriage Problems Revelations of a Wife

THE TEMPTATION MADGE PRIMLY PUT DOWN.

I swept him a courtesy as he ushered Bess Dean to a rustic chair on the side lawn. And the resentment which I felt arose in my throat was not whit animated by his exaggerated courtesy to the girl, but by the fact that, Dicky-like, he had distinctly "passed the buck" in his own vocabulary to me of the vexed question of admitting Bess Dean to the Cosgrove circle of "select paying guests."

Mrs. Cosgrove looked at me sharply as I, with a hesitating born of my own unwillingness to broach the subject, questioned her concerning the possibility of accommodating Bess Dean in her home for the remaining two weeks of the R. W. Ardri vacation.

The sweet-faced, kindly sister of Robert Savarin has grown very near to me during the summer days in which I have been a paying guest, and her home, and I know that she genuinely likes me also. It is a feeling, which with her as with me, goes back to the days when I first saw her and, by a lucky accident, saved the artist's collection of pictures from the rapacious hands of the woman who pretended to be his wife. Robert Savarin's return to sanity dated from this time also, and illogically feminine Mrs. Cosgrove always has given me a great deal of credit for the lifting of the shadow from her idolized brother's mind.

I flushed a bit beneath her scrutiny, and with the directness I have found in the mountain people, the freedom which our close association has engendered, put her hand upon my shoulder.

"If I'm a question of what I can do, my dear child," she said, "but of what you wish. I can make room for her easily, if Robert doesn't object, and he wouldn't, of course, to any guest you ask. But—" she hesitated—"am I right in thinking that you are only asking this because you think you must be courteous to her for some reason, and that in reality you do not wish her to be here? For if that is the case I will tell her that I haven't a solitary place to put her. Just say the word."

SATISFACTORY ARRANGEMENTS.

How tempted I was to "say the word" I did not realize myself until afterward. But not to Mrs. Cosgrove, dear and motherly as she was, could I reveal the reason for my reluctance to have Bess Dean become a member of our pleasant mountain family. And the remembrance of the mockery in the girl's eyes as she asked me if I perhaps had a mind to do something for an element braced me to answer my hostess' general app. with an appearance of sincerity.

"It's awfully good of you to be so considerate of me," I said, smiling. "But, really, if you possibly can put her up I shall be very glad. You see, she and I taught together for a year, and I am indebted to her for a great kindness to a dear friend of mine. I should be exceedingly disappointed if you could not find room for her."

"But I can," she said promptly. "As a usual thing, I don't take people in the farmhouse. I one of my bungalows will be empty today, so I'll put the twins out there and give your friend a room in the house. She might be afraid if she were alone in the cabin at night."

I reflected that I yet had to see the thing of which Bess Dean would be afraid, but about I only thanked Mrs. Cosgrove heartily for her thoughtfulness and went back to the seat beneath the big tree where Dicky was bending with exaggerated attention over Bess Dean.

"Everything's all set," I called cheerfully as she came near them. I do not often indulge in Dicky's slang phrases, but I wished to omit nothing which would emphasize or embellish my role of delighted hostess. I thought I would give her a room in the farmhouse, so, Dicky, suppose you run Miss Dean over to the hotel and get her luggage."

"COME ALONG, MADGE."

Bess Dean rose promptly to her feet, her lips smiling, but her eyes narrowing a bit, a trick I remembered when she was not quite safe. "So I won't be in of those ducky chins," she said gaily, but I recognized the r to of malice in her voice. "Did you tell the old girl she'd better keep me close under her eye?"

I retorted, laughing, "and she insisted upon a look at you through the window before she would take you at all. I think she labeled you 'desirable' and 'dangerous' and assigned you to the room. But let me give you a pointer—don't interfere with her arrangements or she is very likely to remember suddenly that she has promised the room to some one else and forgotten her promise for the moment."

I spoke nothing but the truth in my last words, for I had seen with much quiet amazement the clever subtleties which Mrs. Cosgrove used in getting rid of persons of whom she disapproved.

Bess Dean wrinkled her nose—a comical little gesture, which is only attractive when she does not do it too often—and looked up at Dicky coquettishly.

"Well, if I'm to be shackled to a duenna, you must promise to come and break my chains occasionally or I'll do of enuff."

Dicky struck the attitude of a melodramatic tenor, and bent himself upon the breast with a clenched fist.

"I will rescue you as many times

Three Square Meals

The gray morning— Finds them— By the million— Flocking to their stations— This human ant army— That makes the wheels of the universe— Go round. Some with lunch boxes— Under their arms— Some plunging into coffee houses— Reinforcing—with a gulp— Their jaded energies for the day's battle— Others clinging to the sheets— Until too late—go breakfastless. It's a rollicking crowd— After the cobwebs of sleep— Have cleared from their brains— A little fresh air—a cigarette— A humorous recounting of the night before— That last dance with Sadie— That moonlight stroll with Junie— That convivial bottle of moonshine together— Ha—ha—ha— Without a whine— This army of useful men— Whose ambition is a steady job— Who are seldom more than a week ahead— Of the white-toothed wolf— Ever snapping at their heels— Who vision three square meals— Enough and plenty— Whose Heaven is a cottage— With wife and children at the door— To welcome their grimy home-coming— After the day's toil. Yes, the earth rotates— On a cylinder— Made from the brawn of men— Whose dream is— THREE SQUARE MEALS— For each day of toil— And toil for each day. How dull are men— Who cannot understand this dream— How glorious the future— When this dream comes true— And philosophers may cry— Men, make for the heights— Look up, aspire— There's room at the top. It's a cry very true— For it's well for the world— That it's peopled with those— Whose only ambition is— THREE SQUARE MEALS.

There are various methods of dissecting a six-pointed star with a view to reforming the pieces into a square, but of course the "best" answer would be the requiring the least possible number of pieces. So let us see who can transform the star into a square in the "best" way.

CHAPTER 23 Firebugs

PYROMANIACS or "firebugs" are persons suffering from a disease of the mind which impels them to set fire to places without rhyme or reason. Just as the kleptomaniac will steal something entirely valueless to him, so the pyromaniac uses the torch without thought of profit to himself and without even a motive. The firebug does not know himself why he sets fires.

The arsonists burn buildings to collect the insurance. The "torches" turn firebrand for a fee. A person who is mentally aberrated will do the same thing out of revenge. The pyromaniac has no motive.

The police were called to investigate fires that had been started in a big department store. During the day a fire had been set in the toy department and after working hours two more blazes broke out, one being in the fixture room. The process of elimination was simplified because when the last two fires were set there were but 21 persons in the building.

The police further narrowed it down to three boys, the only people who had been in the fixture room at the particular hour.

These three boys were taken to the police station and were questioned one at a time by Inspector William Kyle. Two of the youths gave straightforward answers to all questions. The third talked glibly enough—in fact too glibly. Kyle sized him up as a pervert and knowing pyromaniacs, he at once suspected that this youth might be suffering from a paranoia.

A representative of the national board of fire underwriters was present when this boy, whom we will call Joe, was examined. This detective did not say a word. He was a very impressive looking man with a professional beard and he merely kept his eyes fixed on the face of the suspect with a disconcerting stare. From time to time he made notes. But he never spoke. Inspector Kyle did all the talking.

They were working a "psychological shenanigan" on the suspect.

Six different times in three days was Joe called into the little room and questioned. Each time his story was different. Each time he tried to establish an alibi at variance to his other statements.

Finally Kyle turned and pointed to the Sphinx-like fire investigator.

"Do you see this man here Joe? He is an alienist. Now you have told me nothing. But this man knows that you set those fires. He has read your mind."

The witness "froze." Psychopathic interiors "freeze up" as the police call it. Their stare becomes fixed, they keep their eyes on one spot and their hands never relax for reason. It is a phenomena with which every officer is familiar.

"Now you can't tell me why you set those fires, Joe," continued Kyle, "but this Doctor can. He knows why you did it. He knows your affliction. Now you might as well go over to the store and tell the general manager just what you did. We know you couldn't help doing it. But then they have always treated you pretty decently and we would rather have you tell them than to do it ourselves."

"Before you put me in jail, won't you take me home to see my mother," pleaded the youth. He was unable to withstand

How Hera Outwitted Zeus

CHAPTER 93

POOR jealous Hera! Her life must have been one fit of anger after another. The pretty damsel and nymphs with whom Zeus flirted were almost without number. On one occasion, however, the goddess outwitted her husband.

Zeus was paying his attentions to a beautiful young priestess named Io. Afraid that his wife might see he raised a cloud between himself and Mount Olympus.

When Hera noticed the cloud, she became suspicious.

"I'll wager," she said, "that Zeus is making love to some worthless woman of earth. I'll go down and see."

Zeus noticed her approach and changed Io into a calf. Hera couldn't be angry because her husband was getting a calf, but still she suspected something had been done to fool her.

"What a beautiful calf you have there," she said. "Won't you let me keep it under my care?"

Zeus feared to refuse. Hera led Io away and placed her in charge of Argus, a giant with a hundred eyes. Argus let the calf graze during the day, and at night, tied her up.

One day, Io's father came to the pasture in which she was browsing. He thought her a beautiful little cow and pulled some grass to hand her. She knew it was her father and licked his hand. She wanted to speak to him, but could utter only a "moo."

Finally she had an idea. She would write her name with one of her hoofs! It was not hard to do. Just two letters, I-O, to dig in the ground.

The father guessed that his daughter was before him in disguise. He sent Hermes to Argus. The messenger god, with music and words, lulled all the hundred eyes of the giant to sleep. Hermes then slew Argus, and freed Io. She remained a young "bossy," however.

Hera then sent a gadfly to earth to torment her rival. Poor Io ran far and wide, swimming over seas and rivers, to escape the stings. When she reached Egypt, Zeus begged Hera to be merciful. After making him promise not to flirt with Io any more, she permitted the calf to be changed back to the lovely young woman of former times.

The Ionian sea, according to the Greeks, was named after Io, who swam across it on her way to Egypt.

Winifred Black Says

AN ARISTOCRACY OF BRAINS.

Col. Claude Lowther—what a perfectly darling story— isn't it, girls? Can't you just see him sitting on his horse all ready for his morning canter, perfectly groggy, and then to the last degree, blue-eyed, fair-haired, rosy-cheeked— a Guardsman in an English novel.

Wrong again. He isn't a hero at all, not a novel, anyhow. He's just a hopeful sort of person who's going to try to substitute brains for birth and do it in the House of Lords in England. "Of course, we must have aristocracy of some sort," says Colonel Lowther. "We've had the aristocracy of birth for generations—now, let's give brains a chance."

Colonel Lowther has introduced a bill in the House of Commons which pleads for brains in place of birth.

Bold man—Colonel Lowther—I don't know but that he is a hero after all.

He wants to abolish lords and dukes and marquises and earls, as far as the next generation is concerned.

If a man writes a good book, produces a fine play, makes a valuable invention, leads an army to victory—give him a title or a peerage. Titles if you like, but see that those titles stop when he dies—that's Colonel Lowther's idea.

Oh, yes, there are exceptions, of course, but the general rule is—one great man to a name.

Women follow the rule, too. Joe Jefferson belonged to an old theatrical family, but he was the only genius in it. Booth, Barrymore, Drew—yes, acting seems to be inherited—but take painters or writers or statesmen or inventors—Father touches the goal and Son steps back into the sidelines.

Queer, how nature manages these things.

Every professional woman I know has a daughter who doesn't want to do a thing but keep house, and every housekeeping mother I know who has a daughter at all, has one who's determined to be a lawyer or a doctor or a journalist—or die.

THAT WOULD NEVER DO.

We think we're so clever—moderns—and really, when you come to think about it, we aren't so awfully stupid, either. We're with the phonograph and the radio and the airship and all the rest of the miracles to our credit—but when it comes to the good old laws of nature, we don't seem to be able to get a step further than our great-great-grandfathers.

Maybe it is just as well—we might step entirely off the earth and that would never do.

the stare of the silent man at the other end of the table. He could not make good his "freeze" in the presence of the alleged Doctor.

Of course he went before the board of directors of the big department store and confessed to the entire thing.

The essential factor to establish pyromania must be the absence of profit to the firebrand. This boy had nothing to gain. He gained neither revenge nor profit. In fact he had the big plant burned.

There are comparatively few pyromaniacs.

DATE MUFFINS.

Sift together three cups of flour, a heaping tablespoonful of baking powder, a teaspoonful of salt and a teaspoonful of sugar. Add one beaten egg to two cups of milk, two tablespoonsful of melted butter and a cupful of seeded and chopped dates. Mix and beat with well beaten egg, until batter is smooth. Fill three muffin-pans three-quarters full, and bake about twenty minutes, depending upon the oven. Figs, prunes or raisins may be used instead of the dates for a change.

BLUEBERRY MUFFINS.

Cream a cupful of sugar with a lump of butter the size of an egg. Have the butter soft or partly melted. Beat two eggs in a cupful of milk, mix two teaspoonsful of baking powder and a teaspoonful of salt with the milk, and beat all together smoothly. Take a cupful of ripe blueberries, carefully picked over and washed, dust them with a little flour and stir them in lightly. Pour the warm buttered muffin-pan filling them three-quarters full. Bake as usual, about twenty minutes.

STRAWBERRY MUFFINS.

Make the muffin batter the same as for the blueberry muffins, but instead of the blueberries add a cupful of coarsely-chopped, fresh, ripe strawberries. The berries may be lightly sugared the teaspoonful of sugar after they have been chopped, but do not let them stand to draw out the juice, as for short-cake.

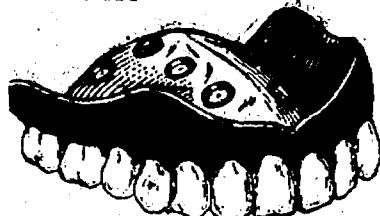

Gushy people kin be as nice 't talk to as anybody—when they're tired out. A bad cold, or business reasons, never held anybody back that had a pass.

School Sites Selected; 79 New Teachers Chosen

The Board of Education last night elected seventy-nine new teachers for the coming school term, granted leaves of absence, accepted resignations, authorized the district attorney to purchase a site for the Crocker Highlands school, and tentatively selected the Daniel Best property in San Leandro as the site for the new junior high school in that city.

The best property is at East Fourteenth and Powell streets and comprises 9.5 acres. The price is $46,000 plus taxes, and five years in which to pay it. The option on the land expires July 15.

C. J. Jeffrey, clerk of the San Leandro Board of Education, appeared before the Oakland board with several suggested sites. The Oakland board, at its recent visit to San Leandro, left with the latter city the matter of securing options on desirable sites and intimated that the San Leandro suggestions would be accepted.

SUBMITS FOUR SITES.
Jeffrey said the San Leandrians could not agree and submitted four sites, including one at East Fourteenth and Magnolia, 5.75 acres, at $42,500.

"Why do we have to choose if San Leandro cannot?" asked President Harry Boyle, during the general discussion, while Director J. F. Chandler pointed out that only $30,000 was allotted in the budget for a San Leandro site purchase. Commissioner Baccus, however, moved that the Best property be appraised, as well as the Coleman property of 5.75 acres, and this was decided upon, with the Best property being favored.

FOR CROCKER SCHOOL.
Deputy District Attorney Theodore Whitman appeared before the board and asserted that all is now ready to purchase property on Hubert Road near Mandana for the Crocker Highlands school, all parcels of land being ready to acquire. He was authorized to proceed with the acquisition of this $21,568 worth of property. The business manager was authorized to place portable buildings there to start the school.

The business manager and chief of construction were authorized to start construction on a six-foot subway under the Western Pacific tracks near Dewey school. They will confer with railroad officials.

In the appointment of the 79 teachers, Director Fred Campbell objected because some half dozen were not California-trained. All

BUSINESS CHIEFS LUNCHEON GUESTS ON DUTCH BOAT

Oakland's Port Facilities Are Lauded at Gathering on Steamer Moerdyk.

"F. A. S.—meaning 'Free Alongside Ship'—Oakland, California." This slogan formed the keynote of the addresses delivered at a luncheon offered by the Holland-America steamship line to a number of prominent Oakland shipbuilders and business men aboard the company's 12,000-ton steamer Moerdyk, which arrived in the port of Oakland yesterday. The Moerdyk is the first great European steamer to dock in this port on a regular sailing schedule, unloaded parts of its freight consigned to Eastbay firms, and took on a cargo of California canned goods, the products of Oakland's great hinterland of the Santa Clara, San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys.

Among those present at the luncheon were: L. Rynink, captain of the Moerdyk; E. F. R. de Lancy, Pacific coast agent of the Holland-America line in San Francisco; Roy G. Thompson, agent of the Holland-America line in Oakland; J. van Meurs of the Holland-America line office in San Francisco; J. F. Fitzgerald, traffic manager of the Virden Packing Company; W. P. Mullen, sales manager of the Virden Packing Company; E. A. Foster, general manager of The TRIBUNE; W. F. D. Brown, circulation manager of The TRIBUNE; W. P. Heckell, of the Howard Terminal; James B. Thompson, of that company. D. G. Mason of H. G. Pines & Company and G. A. Bahler of Bishop & Bahler, traffic managers.

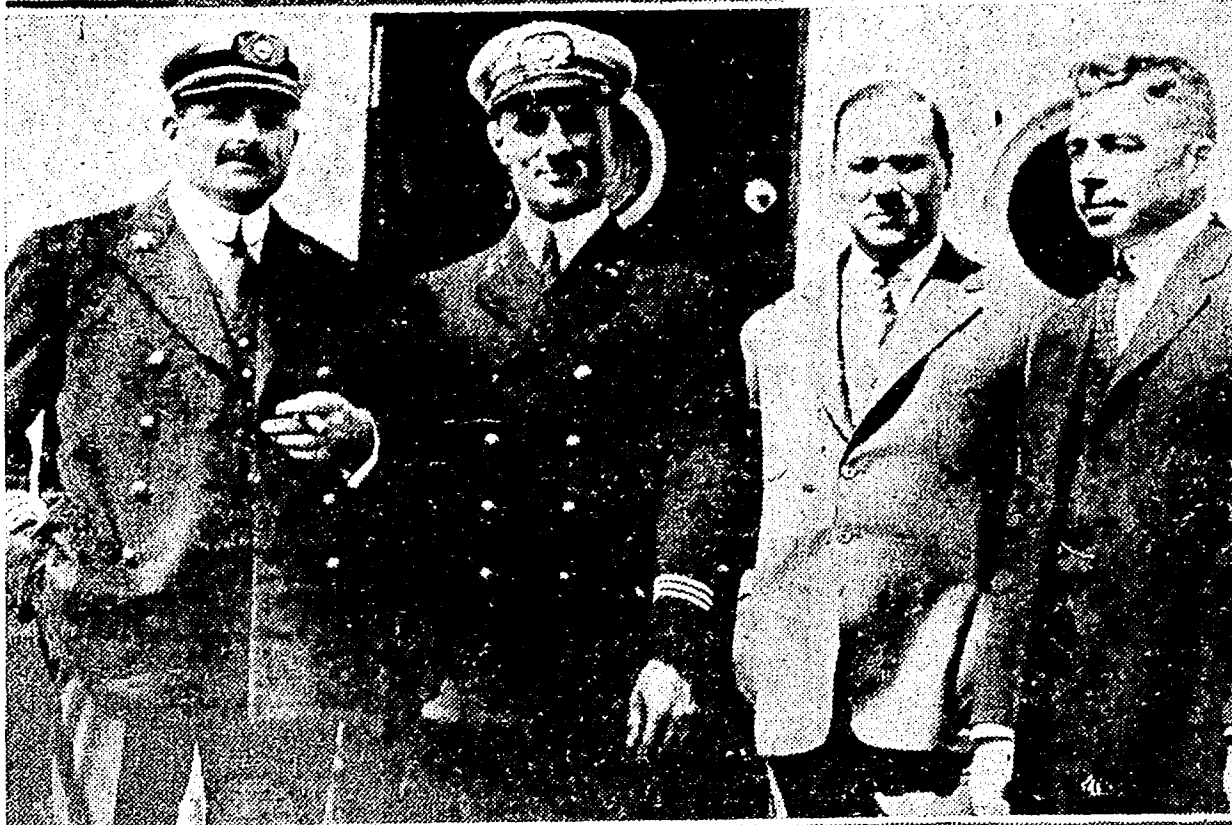

OAKLAND'S ADVANTAGE
The vital importance of Oakland of regular callings by vessels of the Holland-America line, which is one of the world's largest steamship concerns, was emphasized in the speech made by the captain of the Moerdyk. Particular emphasis was placed on the fact that Oakland has excellent facilities for loading direct on deep-sea vessels, and doing away with transshipping in San Francisco. It was furthermore pointed out that by loading in Oakland as much as 50 cents can be saved on every ton, and that the exporter is at present paying an unnecessary tribute by loading his goods in San Francisco.

E. F. R. de Lancy, Pacific coast agent of the Holland-America line, expressed the hope and the belief that the coming of the Moerdyk was but the forerunner of many calls by ships of his company. The Holland-America line he declared, deserved the support of the Eastbay shippers. But, he said, the Holland-America line would ask shipments only in proportion to the excellence of the service it gives. He assured the guests that the company would do its utmost to provide a service highly satisfactory to the Eastbay shippers, and spoke highly of the energetic Eastbay business men who called on the company last year and told of the trade that could be developed by steamers of the Holland-America line calling in Oakland.

Roy Thompson, Oakland agent of the line, said: "If you quote Oakland, why not ship from Oakland. Let us make 'F. A. S.—Free Alongside Ship—Oakland' a term that will be known the world over." Thompson also complimented the Eastbay shippers on the spirit of enterprise and independence shown by them. He declared that Oakland had all facilities favorable for the development of an independent shipping and exporting trade of its own. The Oakland banks, he said, can arrange all credits nowadays for concerns or persons shipping through

EXPEDITION OFF FOR AUSTRALIA TO SEE ECLIPSE

W. W. Campbell, director of Lick observatory, and other members of the third section of the William H. Crocker expedition, sailed today on the Fabril to observe the total eclipse of the sun in Australia on September 21.

The other members include Mrs. W. W. Campbell and Dr. Joseph H. Moore, associate astronomer at Lick observatory. Assistant Astronomer Robert J. Trumpler sailed on March 31 with several tons of instruments. The second shipment of several more tons of astronomical instruments was forwarded on June 13.

The third section is scheduled to arrive in Fremantle about August 13. The three sections will proceed together from that point, traveling by steamer about 1500 miles to the eclipse zone in the Commonwealth government, as far as Broome, which is 200 miles north of Wallal, from which point the eclipse is to be observed.

According to present plans, the party will reach Wallal about September 1. They plan to start the return trip about September 23.

It is figured that the eclipse, which will last at Wallal for five minutes and 19 seconds will occur at 7:40 p. m. on September 21.

Among other problems to be studied in connection with the eclipse will be the Einstein theory.

San Leandro to Have 7 Precincts

SAN LEANDRO, July 7.—San Leandro will have seven voting precincts for the August primary election, it has been decided. In addition to the precincts placed in the Broadmoor section, where the voting strength has increased during the last two years.

Oakland, and any Oakland bank will give a steamship a slight bill of lading against a railroad bill of lading.

The luncheon was a special Dutch collation, including many dishes had come from Holland.

Among the goods landed yesterday on the Moerdyk at the Howard Terminal dock were large shipments of canned California fruits, exported by the Virden Packing Company through the E. W. Fitzgerald and Harry Hall companies.

The Moerdyk has a few accommodations for passengers. Among those who leave today aboard the vessel for the trip through the Panama canal to Holland is J. J. von Lobenfeld, pioneer of Oakland and of the Sacramento valley, who first settled in the Eastbay in 1876.

Following the luncheon the guests were taken through the vessel by Captain Rynink. The captain, who has been in the service of the line for many years, spoke highly of Oakland's excellent facilities for berthing and sealing a vessel the size of the Moerdyk.

Captain Rynink has a special wireless apparatus in his cabin which enables him to hear conversations when he is several hundred miles out at sea. Also, he says, he finds the wireless bearings supplied by various American stations to be a great aid in navigation.

Gold Mining Boom In North Ontario

RADIO SUGGESTED TO UNIFY NATIONS

NEW YORK, July 7.—Wireless as a medium of substituting good will for suspicion among the nations of the world, was the hope expressed here by Guglielmo Marconi, in an address accepting the John Fritz gold medal awarded to him for the invention of wireless telegraphy, at a gathering of noted scientists.

The inventor, who is the nineteenth medalist, was the guest at dinner of the John Fritz medal board of award, after which the presentation was made by Professor Comfort A. Adams of Harvard university, its chairman.

Cable and telegraphic messages Marconi's achievements and urging unity of thought and effort among the engineers of all nations, were read by Chairman Adams. Among the senders were Thomas A. Edison and Eugene Schneider of Paris, head of the Crucet works; both John Fritz medalists, and Sir Robert A. Hadfield of London, discoverer of manganese steel.

In his presentation address, Professor Adams said he thought of the nations of the earth as separated by walls or barriers of various kinds and various heights, some of them language, customs and traditions, while others were maintained by law and dictated by fear, greed and ignorance.

Scout, 14, Hikes Alone Across Continent to S. J.

SAN JOSE, July 7.—Two thousand and more miles lying between his home in the little town of Alexandria, La., and the Santa Clara "Valley of Heart's Delight," plus dark night, cactus plants, plus darts and other things, formed no obstacle to the ambition of 14-year-old Elmer Heine and today he safely arrived at the home of his grandfather, Carl Heine, 233 North Sixth street, this city, having made the pilgrimage from far away Louisiana in just twenty days.

Elmer reached his goal late yesterday afternoon, treading heavily on the office of City Manager C. B. Goodwin with a request for information as to the whereabouts of his grandfather. He was proud of his dust and countenance, his head of overgrown hair and his tanned skin, browned by desert sun and sand. He had reached his goal and he was satisfied.

Hitting it across the continent on foot, in automobiles, on trains and even horses in but twenty days is a fair enough record for a 14-year-old lad, but Elmer Heine boasts that he is a Boy Scout, and says that therein lies the secret of his success.

The lad has an interesting story to tell, if he would let it. He is healthy and unassuming. To draw from him even the more interesting highlights of his experience is difficult.

Young Heine is the son of a building contractor in Alexandria. His parents, he says, gave him their permission to start upon the long lone journey to San Jose and the land of which his grandfather has written such glowing words of praise.

The trip to this city was made by way of Shreveport, Dallas, Fort Worth and Amarillo, Texas, and through Needles, Calif. To the simple, rugged Boy Scout the outstanding feature of his long journey lay in an experience in the vast loneliness of the Mojave desert in the darkness of night. Elmer was alone, unafraid and tired. He sought to rest and sat down, not upon the sands of the desert, but on a cactus plant.

"I could feel 'em all right," said young Heine with a grin this morning, "but I couldn't find 'em. I suffered a lot until the next morning, when I ran across a fellow and he pulled 'em out for me."

There were other experiences, however. On his trail between Vaughn and Albuquerque the lad was attacked by a huge rattlesnake, coiled and ready to spring upon him. The training of the Boy Scout led to his preparation for all emergencies, however. The snake and the reptile was killed. Now Elmer wears the eleven rattles he bore as a watch fob.

The Boy Scout creed of lending a helping hand also played its part during the pilgrimage of young Heine. At a point between Williams and Flagstaff, Arizona, the Southern boy came across a hobo lying at the side of the railroad with a broken leg. Courageously and with much effort the lad carried and half dragged the man for two miles to a ranch house, from whence he trudged another two miles to the next town, sending a plea for help back from there and continuing on his way.

A rancher near Belen, New Mexico, gave Elmer lodging for a night. The following morning he requested the little fellow to ride his horse to the next town, fifteen miles distant, and leave the animal there to be shod. Elmer agreed, glad of the lift, but three miles out the horse bucked and the lad hit the dust. His Boy Scout eyes with much effort the lad carried and half dragged the man for two miles to a ranch house, from whence he trudged another two miles to the next town, sending a plea for help back from there and continuing on his way.

YOUNG MATRON, WIFE OF THREE, FACES BIGAMY

Three marriages, two of which took place in Oakland, is the record said to have been made by 20-year-old May Nielson, of San Francisco, who is charged with bigamy in a complaint sworn to before Police Judge Tyrrell of Oakland. One of the ceremonies, in which Andrew Charles Nielson figured as the groom, was performed by Judge Mortimer Smith in Oakland, it is stated.

Mrs. Nielson, the defendant, is at present living at 2393 1/2 Mission street, San Francisco. She was arrested last Wednesday evening. Andrew Nielson, her husband, obtained her liberty from the city jail in San Francisco by turning in a $1,000 last night.

He declared that no matter what outcome might be he would stand by her.

The mother-in-law's name is Mrs. Margaret Nielson, and she lives at 58 Yukon street, San Francisco. Mrs. Margaret Nielson stated that her son had run into debt by buying clothing and jewelry for the defendant, and it was this that prompted her to disclose the story concerning the three marriages.

The mother-in-law stated that the young woman, following an elopement, married Anthony Long on March 8, 1919. Three months later, she declares, the young woman eloped with Charles Nielson of Vallejo, marrying him in Oakland. She later separated from Nielson and sued for a divorce from Long.

She met Nielson and they fell in love with each other. When she secured her divorce from Long she did not validate her marriage with Nielson, but married Nielson instead.

The young woman declared that the filing of the complaint was "a pure case of family feud."

FACES FELONY CHARGE TO SEE HIS BABY SON

W. B. Brunzel Returns From Mexico and Surrenders to Sheriff.

The desire to see his baby son, a cripple, brought William B. Brunzel back from Mexico to face a charge of felony, he told Deputy Sheriff Joe Seale when he surrendered himself at the county jail today.

Brunzel, who formerly conducted a horse market in Oakland with his father and who was rated as a wealthy man, has been operating in Sierra county until his defalcations reached such a sum that discovery was imminent. Then he fled to the southern republic.

"I couldn't stand it any longer, Joe," said Brunzel to Seale, whom he had known a long time. "I had to see the boy again, and so I have come back to face the music. I'll go back to Sierra and take my medicine, or if they'll give me a chance I'll make good and pay back every cent. Take me in and lock me up, now, and then telephone my wife and ask her to bring the baby down to see me."

Brunzel, in further conversation with Seale, declared that every over the condition of his young son affected him so that he could not give his business of cattle buying the attention it demanded. He said he had been in the hospital bills also into his income until finally he was forced to default on payments from whom he bought cattle. When his defalcations had reached between $12,000 and $15,000 he fled.

Man Badly Burned Rescuing Canaries

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—While trying to rescue two canaries from death in a fire at 92 Peralta avenue, Fred Maysenhelder was seriously burned at an early hour today. The flames were first seen by Robert Carver, who turned in the alarm and notified Maysenhelder. The latter, remembering his birds, rushed into the flaming building to rescue them. The door jammed and he was unable to get through. He managed to batter down the door, but suffered severe burns of the face, arms and back and is at the Mission Emergency hospital. The blaze spread to the cottage of Henry Kruse at 90 Peralta avenue. The damage was considerable, but the birds were saved.

Advance in Lumber Rates Put in Effect

Indications that the unsettled conditions in the freight rate market which have prevailed on the Pacific for some months are adjusting themselves, and reports of advance in lumber rates. Advances from Tacoma state that an advance of approximately $1.50 a thousand feet on the freight rate on lumber shipments from the Pacific Northwest to the Atlantic Coast has been made by the inter-coastal steamship conference. The standard rate on lumber shipments is now $14 a thousand as compared with $12.50 a thousand. The Coast have broken all records during the first half of the current year. The average sailings from Puget Sound ports to the Coast have been one vessel a day for the past two months. Each of these ships carries from 1,000,000 to 4,000,000 feet of lumber.

I. O. O. F. Lodge Will Start Building Move

SAN LEANDRO, July 7.—A committee, consisting of K. A. Knudson, C. G. Franks, G. Mello and Budd Eber, has been appointed by the Odd Fellows' lodge of this city to assume responsibility for the proposed building program to be launched by the local organization soon. According to tentative plans, the present building owned by the Odd Fellows, which is located the lodge headquarters, will undergo a complete repainting and remodeling. Lack of the necessary funds resulted in an indefinite postponement of the repainting. The lodge for new headquarters had already been chosen when it was decided to dismiss building plans for the present.

According to the chosen committee, alterations will be begun immediately. The Odd Fellows' building is one of the oldest in the city.

Piedmont Battery Calls Two Drills

PIEDMONT, July 7.—Drill will be held by Battery D, Field Artillery, National Guard of California, tonight and on Tuesday evening, July 11.

It was announced today that Tuesday will be the last opportunity to the young men of Piedmont to join the battery before it leaves for training at Camp Lewis in connection with Batteries A and B of Oakland and C of Livermore. Recruits should apply at the new armory, 349 Highland avenue, Piedmont.

From Santa Barbara to San Luis Obispo, the young adventurer says, he was given a ride on top of the old tender of a Southern Pacific train, the crew having him tied to the trunk at the various stopping places. Elmer nearly suffocated going through tunnels, he says, but survived. Automobiles and good old "Shinn's" mare brought him the remainder of the way to this city. Elmer says he is here to stay; that it was worth the trip. Now all he wants is a job, and he's not afraid to work.

INQUIRY BEGINS INTO FIRE AT CAMP MEEKER

Blaze That Destroys Hotel,
Library, Postoffice, Store, Believed Incendiary.

SANTA ROSA, July 7.—Believing that the fire which destroyed the Hotel Rusticana, the postoffice, the library, a store and damaged other buildings at Camp Meeker last night may have been of incendiary origin, the district attorney's office has begun an investigation.

District Attorney George W. Boyle sent to San Francisco for a representative of the National Board of Fire Underwriters to make a thorough study of the circumstances connected with the fire.

This is the third hotel to burn down on this site since 1914. The loss was estimated today at between $25,000 and $30,000. In addition to destroying the buildings, the fire burned into the woods for a distance of several thousand feet before it was finally extinguished.

The fire was discovered at about 3 o'clock and hundreds of guests fled from the hotel. Fire Captain Brown of San Francisco discovered the fire and took charge of a crew of volunteer fire fighters. It took two hours to bring the flames under control.

The guests were forced to flee in such a hurry that most of their belongings were destroyed. Many who attempted to return to the burning building for their property narrowly escaped injury.

The hotel was three stories. There was a north breeze blowing at the time the fire broke out. The flames jumped to the postoffice, near which there was a considerable stretch of dry grass. The caught fire and the flames spread rapidly.

More than 100 persons responded to fire calls sent to Santa Rosa, Healdsburg and other points near by.

Back-firing was started as soon as John M. Marshall, fire supervisor, arrived from Santa Rosa. Many of the guests who fled from the Hotel Rusticana are reported to have been from the big district.

Camp Meeker is twenty-five miles from Santa Rosa. The Hotel Rusticana, which was built in the early style, was operated by William Westerfield.

Buttermilk Cream creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that while it turns the dull, most unattractive complexion to radiant beauty and makes red, rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is no slightest sign of its use. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin. No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, crow's feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the skin, if you are bothered by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream. The meeting, which is sponsored by the Contra Costa Hills Club, is being called for the purpose of outlining definite plans for combating the fire menace.

These letters were sent at the request of J. Carl Soule, president of the Contra Costa Hills Club, by Charles E. Warner, one of the directors of the club.

The meeting is being called following a sudden fire recently made by The TRIBUNE that some such concerted action be taken to protect the territory surrounding Oakland from being laid waste by fire during the present dry season.

BERKELEY SOCIAL LEADER DIVORCES WEALTHY BROKER

Mrs. Mabel Livingston Given Divorce; Husband's Office Assistant Named.

Mrs. Mabel Agnes Livingston, 1 El Camino Real, Berkeley, was yesterday granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from James Prince Livingston, wealthy broker and grain exporter, Merchants' Exchange Building, San Francisco. The decree was granted by Superior Judge George S. Smith upon the ground of cruelty. The suit was filed Saturday.

Mrs. Livingston, who is prominent in East Bay society, named Miss Agnes "Pat" O'Connor, chief assistant to Livingston in his office. She said that on several occasions her husband and the girl registered as husband and wife under assumed names at San Francisco hotels.

The suit was not contested by Livingston. Mrs. Livingston, who is the grown son of the late Livingston, was the only witness. She declared that her husband was irascible about the home and displayed a violent temper on various occasions. No testimony was introduced to substantiate the accusation made in the complaint in connection with Miss O'Connor. Livingston merely corroborated the testimony of his mother.

Reference was made to a property settlement which had been effected before the trial was called to court. Although Mrs. Livingston asked for $1000 a month as alimony in her complaint, she stated yesterday that she had compromised upon $350 per month. In addition she has accepted $2500 in cash, the family home on El Camino Real, Liberty bonds of a total value of $10,000, and the agreement of Livingston to pay her outstanding bills, totaling $25,000. Livingston is the American agent of Strauss & Company, grain exporters of San Francisco, and vice-president of the Northern Grain and Merchandising company, of Portland, Oregon.

SAN LEANDRO

SAN LEANDRO TO USE CHERRY WINE TO NAME FERRY

SAN LEANDRO, July 7.—Twelve years ago W. J. Gannon, now justice of the peace of San Leandro, wrote a letter to the general manager of the Western Pacific company requesting that a ferry boat, about to be launched at the time, be named after this city.

Now Gannon's ambition is realized. With the christening of the ferry boat "San Leandro," to be launched at Oakland early in September, members of the local chamber are planning an appropriate ceremony. A meeting will be called to decide the part this city will play in the christening. A bottle of "wine," made from San Leandro cherries, will be substituted for the hitherto customary champagne.

Work on Harbor Urged by Hurley

The earliest possible development of Oakland's waterfront, and the way to bring it about were the features of Edgar S. Hurley's address before the Golden Gate Improvement Club Thursday night.

"Oakland is growing so fast and so solidly," he said, "that we should build city and harbor at the same time on our own resources," said Assemblyman Hurley, who is a candidate for State Senator.

"There is not enough local money for both, yet the harbor is an immediate necessity. We cannot invite overseas commerce unless we can take care of it. Research has convinced me that the plan I am committed to will solve the problem in a manner satisfactory to all. The state has done all she could for harbor improvements. We must move faster. We must do as San Francisco has done. Her harbor did not cost that city or the state one dollar more than the harbor we have built, maintained and kept up from earnings and is today a highly successful business organization. I intend to introduce a bill in the legislature which will create a state harbor board for Oakland and which will, at the same time leave the control of the harbor with the city of Oakland, and also for the purpose of securing adequate amount for harbor building."

BUREAU BRIDE SUE FOR DIVORCE

MARTINEZ, July 7.—R. D. Case, Santa Fe employee at Richmond, who had been married once, but when he discovered papers which he says tend to show two prior marriages, it hastened his decision to file suit for divorce. At least that is the inference from Case's suit on file here today against Alma E. Case.

The husband claims that by accident he discovered papers which he says reveal two prior marriages in Michigan. He declares their marriage the result of correspondence initiated through a matrimonial bureau. In an exchange of histories he says his wife told of a prior marriage. He also claims his wife has contracted bills without his knowledge. They have been married a year.

Harvester Sued for Damage to Crop

MARTINEZ, July 7.—Claiming that Frank Costa failed to plow a firebreak around stacked hay in the Cloverdale Tract, near Concord, and he had agreed to do so, the suit was filed in Superior court against Costa, asking that judgment for damages be rendered against Costa, and that an injunction be issued restraining him from removing any portion of the hay. A stated amount is asked for judgment.

According to the suit, Evelyn Church holds a promissory note for $500 executed by Califur, who gave a chattel mortgage on the hay. Under a verbal agreement between Califur and Costa, it is claimed, the latter was to harvest, bale and transport the hay to Concord, receiving for his work one-third of the hay. It is claimed that Costa refuses a proper division of the hay. The suit places damages at $1200.

When her husband left, Mrs. Moreno avers, he took all her clothing and hid it in the home of a neighbor. She also alleges several beatings.

"Training" and "Supervision" were the topics discussed today by the delegates to the convention of the Fuller Brush company's sales managers at the Hotel Oakland.

The morning meeting was taken up with talks by W. H. Hodgson, Carl Waldo and H. E. Lamar, who gave detailed accounts of the proper methods of training salesmen following a several weeks' vacation of the company in an efficient manner.

In the afternoon sessions the speakers were L. P. Harper, Karl Odegard, H. B. Fisher, G. H. Abernethy and G. E. Davis, who outlined the duties of the various sales managers in handling the men under them and gave simple rules for supervising the work toward the end of securing more efficient and more profitable service.

The sessions are being attended by brush sales managers from the entire western division, which extends the length of the Pacific coast from the Rocky mountains to the coast. The meeting was being presided over by W. H. Metcalf, sales manager for the concern in this city.

MAN ASKS DIVORCE.

MARTINEZ, July 7.—Claiming that immediately after her arrival from Baltimore, Md., his wife began associating with other men and has frequently remained away over night, Hyman Halsman, of Richmond, today filed suit for divorce against Ray W. Halsman. The couple married in Baltimore in January, 1921, and Halsman came to Richmond to establish a home. He first discovered the wife's infidelity a year later. According to the suit, a separation occurred July 3, after Mrs. Halsman had remained away over night.

Would Have Been in Grave Long Ago If Not for Fong Wan

For years I had stomach trouble with gas which pressed on my heart with unbearable pain. I could not walk from one side of the table to the other without stopping to catch my breath. My stomach was so bloated that I could neither eat nor sleep with comfort. My back ached fearfully and it seemed as though I continually carried a heavy load on it. My bowels never moved naturally and I suffered also from female complaint. They said that mine was a surgical case and that a tumor must be removed before I could get relief. I feared and dreaded an operation. My brother, John Luma, and his friend, Mr. M. Frazier, both of whom had been cured of stomach trouble by the FONG WAN HERBAL SPECIALIST, advised me to try him. My brother took me down to his place at the corner of 8th and Clay Sts., Oakland. I took the herbs for four months, cooking them myself. I am now strong and well and feel splendid.

Had it not been for my brother's advice and FONG WAN'S skill, I should have been in my grave long ago. Mrs. Julia Andrade, Box 13, Alvarado, Calif.

Notwithstanding the fact that her brother had been greatly benefited by the FONG WAN HERBS, Mrs. Julia Andrade had to be encouraged repeatedly to continue with the treatment. After having drunk the herbs but a few weeks, although she realized that her condition was somewhat improved, she was skeptical and feared that she would never get well. She might have discontinued altogether and never have regained her health had she not met Mrs. Cook in the FONG WAN OFFICE.

Mrs. Cook told Mrs. Andrade that she had suffered with a painful growth in her side, and that after she had taken the FONG WAN HERBS, she had been cured. She also told her that her brother, Mr. Crawford, had but one leg, and that this leg was so crippled that he was confined to his bed for nearly a year. The doctors said they could do nothing for him unless he would consent to have his foot amputated.

He tried an inexperienced Chinese Herbalist for two weeks but the worst continued day and night. Then Mr. Crawford's young brother came home. He told him to quit that herbalist and try the FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST, the most reliable on the Pacific Coast. After Mr. Crawford had drunk the first cup of Herbal Tea prepared by FONG WAN, the pain grew less and he enjoyed the first night's sleep in months. He continued to take the treatment for about three months. His toe healed up finely and he grew stronger all over.

COPY CATS.

During the past ten years, the FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST has destroyed all his secrets and has made no search. He has assorted all effective formulas contained in ancient Chinese volumes of Herbal lore and has learned the methods of China's most famous Herbalists. In addition to this, by making a careful study of each individual case, he has adapted the formulas to suit the individual case. FONG WAN has seen three different copies of his book in the possession of former employees who have hung out their shingles and set themselves up as Herbalists. The public should beware of the cheap imitations and consult only dependable Herbalists of known ability.

Since he has been in Oakland, the FONG WAN HERBALIST has employed more than a dozen men to work for him. Some of these employees, without either his knowledge or consent, have surreptitiously copied his book and later opened up herb businesses for themselves. Naturally, the FONG WAN HERBALIST brings quick and beneficial results and these so-called Herbalists are able to make cures. However, as soon as they strike an obstinate case or one that is a little different from the ordinary, no results are obtained as these Herbalists are unable to modify the formula to suit the individual case. FONG WAN has seen three different copies of his book in the possession of former employees who have hung out their shingles and set themselves up as Herbalists. The public should beware of the cheap imitations and consult only dependable Herbalists of known ability.

LUCKY NUMBER IN AUTO RAFFLE SEEN IN DREAM

SANTA ROSA, July 7.—Because she believed in dreams, Mrs. P. M. Jackson, hemstitcher, of Sebastopol, is riding around in a new automobile today. And it only cost her a dollar.

Mrs. Jackson bought a 50 cent chance on the automobile which was to be raffled off at a Fourth of July picnic by Woodmen lodge. That night, according to Mrs. Jackson, she dreamed that number 1735 would win the car. The next day she went the rounds of ticket places until she found the number. At the picnic Mrs. Jackson held firm to the conviction that number 1735 would win. That evening she

The $4100 now in the bond redemption fund will be deducted from this total.

THE MEATLESS DIET.

Editorials anent the death of Wu Ting-fang, the Chinese statesman, have been mostly on political lines. He was one of the great Oriental personalities, and considering the status of affairs in his country, discussion has been as to what effect his death will have.

But the passing of this eminent Chinaman is discussed in certain limited circles from an altogether different standpoint. Wu Ting-fang was a vegetarian, and it was believed by proponents of the meatless diet that, with his exact and strict adherence to the rules of the cult, he would live to a very great age and afford practical proof of the value of eschewing all flesh foods. He had enjoyed excellent health and retained quite exceptional vigor, and himself predicted that he would live to be 125 years of age. But he passed at 78.

The Oregonian draws a parallel between Wu Ting-fang and Dr. Metchnikoff, the renowned Russian, who was going to break the record in longevity on a diet of sour milk; but he, too, died at an age that is reached by multitudes who fail to follow a diet fat, but on the contrary seem to run amuck in eating.

Perhaps no fad makes such slow headway as the vegetarian. Its votaries felt some progress during the recent war, but it was not due to conversions to that regimen. It was because the price of meat soared, and votaries of a flesh diet found it necessary to economize.

At a California sanitarium no meat is served guests. It is prohibited, as explained in the institution's literature, for the reason that meat is not an essential food, and is a disease carrier. There are restrictions of other things, notably, of smoking; but nothing hits so many as the inhibition of meat. The eating of meat seems to be all but universal among the peoples of this temperate zone; yet those who abstain for a considerable time are surprised that abstinence makes so little difference. However, diets to promote longevity have been confused by those who have flagrantly violated the strict vegetarian diet and have survived in years far exceeding those who strictly followed it; and users of tobacco get of record who reach an astonishing age, though having smoked daily all their lives.

There is getting to be a considerable class of hygienists who advise as a diet that which is craved, or relished; and it seems to have been proven that eschewing this or that in accordance with theories that may have been worked out according to the abstract rules of the chemistry of dietetics has time and again proven fallacious. The human system varies to such an extent that it is impossible to fix rules that will be universal.

The firecracker was the nearest to being eliminated in the celebration of the Fourth of July this year in the whole history of the observance of that day—though that statement is from a California point of view, and it is to be remembered that the Fourth has not been an "occasion" here all the time since its institution. The juvenile generation may have suffered last Tuesday from the deprivation of its "rights," but there is an undoubted satisfaction to those who have emerged from youth, that on the fifth the news columns were not adorned with the usual accounts of fires and maimings from fireworks imperfectly or prematurely set off.

The importance of discarding the peeve and attending to business would seem to be exemplified in Babe Ruth's experience. As long as he defied authority and baited umpires, fines and suspensions resulted. When he began to pay strict attention to business three home runs in one day were chalked up. Home runs being the sort of achievement that he relies on for fame, there is little to be said except to indicate the wisdom of attending to the purpose that he is there for, and nothing else.

The early action of Senator Shortridge in placing in nomination President Harding for a second term, and the stir that is noticeable to get the next Republican national convention set for San Francisco, are signs that California is in the reckoning politically in an increased degree. The national convention that was held there two years ago was such a success—except as to the election of its nominees—that the next one will come easier. All that could be expected of a host city by such a convocation was afforded on that occasion—and more than has been accorded on some occasions, according to testimony on the part of some of those who participated.

AROUND THE WORLD BY AIR.

Thoroughly informing accounts of the latest world-encircling enterprise have not appeared in any popular print, but the National Geographic Society has issued a bulletin that gives much detail of the latest projected feat.

The expedition is to be in charge of Major Blake of the British army. Hitherto intercontinental travel has sought the shortest water routes. But as to the airplane, distance lends enchantment. It does not need to be conserved.

The shortest route around the world for airplanes is approximately 30,000 miles. That part of the proposed route from London, through Rome, Cairo and Bagdad to India is practically the same as that followed by the brothers Smith in their spectacular air cruise to Australia. The Atlantic has been crossed by Captain Alcock of the British Army, and Lieutenant Commander Read of the American Navy; but Major Blake is to blaze a new course, which will skirt Newfoundland, Greenland and Iceland. This will perhaps be circuitous, but it is figured as less hazardous, and distances, as has been said, do not cut much figure when space can be overcome at the speed with which airplanes travel. Scotland, Greenland and Iceland will certainly be a new route; yet in the not distant day when the airship will be popular for travelers, this is the way they are likely to go, and may prefer to go.

The British flyers also have a precedent as to the Western Hemisphere leg of their route in the highly successful flight of Captain Street of the United States Army from New York to Alaska. By steamer, Japan is distant some 5000 miles from this port; but from the Alaskan peninsula by airship it is only 3000 miles.

An important consideration of this northern trend is that the route crosses the Alaskan gulf from Kodiak to Sitka, and off Sitka that wonder is located, "The Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes," where fifty square miles of steaming fissures and rainbows of hissing gases form one of the greatest natural wonders.

The psychology of the man who commits suicide because of his despair of supporting his family is not explainable by ordinary rules. If those dependent on him are in a bad way while he is alive, how much worse off are they going to be with him dead, and dead in such a manner as to greatly add to their difficulties by plunging them in grief? There is absolutely no reason in the person who grieves on account of his inability to support those who look to him as a mainstay getting out of the situation by becoming a felo de se.

We have often noticed and sometimes commented upon the unusual grounds alleged and urged in divorce cases. Here is a San Francisco wife who assures the Judge that her husband is "too perfect." He did not drink, nor smoke, nor swear, nor play cards; was always kind and never mistreated his spouse. Yet they couldn't "get along," and the wife wants a divorce. Specifications as to just what she expects in a husband would be illuminating.

MOTHER OF TONOPAH.

Histories, encyclopedias and other books dealing with plain, hard facts say that James L. Butler was the discoverer of the rich mineral deposit at Tonopah, which put Nevada back on the map as a mining State and made the fortunes of hundreds of prospectors and adventurers who early rushed into this field. But many mining camps have their own traditions which do not always agree with statements of history. Tonopah is one of these. With no intention of detracting from Mr. Butler's fame it can be said that tradition gives credit not to him but to Mrs. Butler for making the discovery of the great ledge from which the wealth of Tonopah came.

This classic story of Tonopah ranks with that of the prospector's burro, which stumbled upon a nugget and revealed a wealth of raw gold, or that of the discouraged miner who threw his pick against a cliff and uncovered a bonanza. It will be repeated by many old time prospectors when they read the brief dispatch recently sent out from Sacramento, announcing Mrs. Butler's death at that city.

The Butlers twenty-one years ago last April left their ranch in the lake region of western Nevada with the hope of making a strike of some kind in what was then called the Klondike district of Nye county. They lost their way when about five miles north of Tonopah, and to add to their misery and unhappiness the burros which were hitched to their buckboard strayed away at one of their camping places.

They searched five days for the pesky little beasts. Then Mrs. Butler, exhausted from her wanderings, sat down on the hill now known as Mount Oddie, and by mere chance she picked up and examined a piece of loose rock at her feet. It gleamed with virgin silver. She showed her find to her husband when he at last returned with the missing burros. They named the site Mizpah, having in mind the old Hebrew blessing "God be with you."

This became the famous Mizpah ledge. The mine shaft was sunk at the spot where Mrs. Butler made her discovery, Butler paying for his first assays by a deed of a twelfth interest in the find. This mine and others which he developed in the district brought him a fortune. To the whole country Mrs. Butler always was "Mother"—just short for "Mother of Tonopah."—New York Herald.

DAILY ALMANAC

Friday, July 7.

Philip S. Physick, "Father of American Surgery," born today, 154 years ago. . . . Shades of boyhood's woes and merriment, Edward I of England died, 1307, on the way to subdue rebellion in Scotland. . . . He called him "Longshanks." . . . He was a great traveler.

Under the influence of love and melancholia, most men and a few women turn to poetry. "Woe" Oakland, a prime favorite among the contritis, grows a weary of the world every little while, gets his trusty snickerdoodle out of the right-hand bureau drawer and prepares to travel the only long lane that has no turning. Which would be all right, as far as we are concerned. But the sight of the cold steel is too much, evidently, and he puts the weapon back in satchel, grabs a pen and shoos or Archie has to bear the brunt of such as this:

The Suicide.

The world will never miss me,
And life is worth so much;
The great beyond is risky—
To break the law of such—
I kill my thoughts with whiskey,
And then with slightest touch,
The bullet seizes on my neck,
And Death throws in his clutch.

Is there anything but suicide left for a poet who rhymes "miss me" and "kiss me" with "risky" and "whisky"?
Our offer of a hand-painted collar-button for the best contribution received during the absence of the regular engineer of this column has stirred interest to a high pitch. Stranger things have come in the mail than Horatio dreamed of in his philosophy or his normal mental condition. Some of these contributions have gone to the basket because of the very nature of them, some because they deserved no better fate, some of them see the light of day in this department. Among those in the third class may be entered this:

Graduate's Lament.

I'm the best in my class, it's true;
I've had places on teams and crew
That knocked all our rivals flat.
In scholarship, too, for that.
But there's one way they've got us beaten—
My conscience has never rested—
Alma Mater, I've kissed a girl.
—Topsy Pigeon.

P. S.—This should rival the Goldfish's mighty blank verse in contention for the Archie prize.

We have had word from the Baldwin Locomotive Works, which firm is casting our prize collar-button, that this gem of the blacksmith's art will rival the famous Hope diamond in beauty, and that its utilitarian value will be beyond the hope of men. In a day or two we may print a picture of this treasure.

Tomorrow is the birthday of John D. Rockefeller, an event of more importance than usual, due to the increased use of the automobile. We anticipate the news service reports of the event by stating that the millionaire golfer will spend the day quietly and will issue a statement that long life depends as much on abstaining from the use of liquor and gasoline as on anything else.

Human Nature.

I want no badge of martyrdom,
Pinned on my breast as I lie dead.
Nor kindly orators who wail,
A friendly gesture o'er my head.
I'd rather words were left unsaid
If my clay ears no longer hear;
When life from out my heart has fled,
Mute lusty throats that fain would cheer.

If you have posies red and white,
I prepare to hand 'em to me now;
If wreaths of laurel, green and bright,
Pray drape them quick on my brow;

I want reward on earth, somehow,
For clanging my copper casket's lid;
I want to hear the people vow,
As I pass by, "Some kid, SOME kid!"

Sir:
Hitherto I have been inclined to agree with scientists who assure us man has progressed by civilization, but after surveying the expressions of gleeful interest on the faces of the audience at an open-air dental parlor while a fellow-being was having a tooth extracted I am beginning to feel a breath of doubt stirring within me.
—Sinn Fein.

There is the Oaklander, arrested for drunkenness, who haled himself out, proceeded a-down the streets two blocks and was taken up again by an unfriendly policeman. The court held (and rightly, in the opinion of all good souls), that the man couldn't be arrested twice for the same offense. It is getting so that not only is a fellow not allowed to be a noble scoundrel, but once having annexed it, he is not allowed to hang on to it. This is a condition that must not last in this land of the free. Something has got to be done about something, again.

The United States Government, ever on the alert to unearth hidden happiness, has discovered that there are 12,000 more single men in Oakland than there are single women. What of it, you say? Well, what are they going to do about it? We intended to call a convention of these Splendid Twelve Thousand at which will be discussed ways and means for combating attempts to break up the combine, now that the news of its existence has leaked out.

THE BOY WHO WANTED LONG TROUSERS

NOTES and COMMENT

Brooklyn Eagle on a serious subject: "Nothing in our artificially developed society is more grotesque than the problem faced by a family with small accumulated savings when a loved one dies. Not the quietest or safer or less like taking a chance in the world, when down came the ball from a department store and knocked her unconscious, causing also concussion of the brain."

New York Times on vitamins: "Something of responsibility rests on the medical profession for allowing, or at any rate for not preventing, the spread among the public of many false notions as to the potency of 'vitamins,' their nature and their sources. According to two Baltimore physicians, E. V. McCollum and Nina Simmonds, who contribute to The Journal of the American Medical Association the results of elaborate tests made by them, this ignorance is being ruthlessly exploited by certain manufacturers of proprietary drugs."

Pleasant amenity from the Stockton Record: "Harry Hammond isn't bragging about it—yet, but he has a son who is now old enough to sit up at the desk and help the old man out in vacation time. The young man is a student at the University of California, and in a signed editorial he tells something of the 17th birthday of the Byron Times and the weather it has come through, with a neat bit of appreciation for Dad, who made the paper and has done a lot to put the Byron section on the map."

According to the Brooklyn Eagle the world chuckled: "All the world chuckled more or less over Belgium's 48-hour ultimatum to Germany about redeeming a debt of 6,000,000 marks. Tables are turned in the ultimatum field."

The Chicago News gives hot-weather advice: "Statistics prove that human irritability increases as the summer temperature mounts. Keeping cool mentally as well as physically is one of the special needs of the season."

SPIRIT OF STATE PRESS

How fine it is to think that Mari-Posa county is to have a real museum, one that is built especially to preserve those old relics consigned to the pioneer history of Mari-Posa county. There are tucked away in the garrets and cellars of many of our old homes hundreds and hundreds of old and unusual articles that should be preserved.—Mari-Posa Gazette.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST—

AMERICA

Land of all that's best on earth,
Land of laughter and of mirth,
Now we celebrate your birth.
To the sound of horn and drum
Hear the grateful voices hum
As your loving children come.

May your torch of freedom shine
As a symbol and a sign
Of a never-ending line.

Land where merry children play
Round your feet from day to day,
You shall conquer Time's decay.

Brighter, brighter glow your skies
Where the starry banner flies
As the generations rise.

Land of freedom, land of truth,
Man feels winter's cruel tooth
But each day renews your youth.

There are songs for you unsung,
Clearer bells that shall be rung,
Always shall your heart be young.

When the greatest of our race
Shall depart, a shining place
Shall come forth to take his place.

You shall never stand alone
As the old whose youth have flown,
Youth eternal you shall own.

These our children, when we're gone
You shall have to lean upon,
They shall pass your glory on.

Not a weakling race we breed,
Prey to lust and passion's greed,
But the manhood you shall need.

While for freedom men shall burn
Brightly shall your altars turn
And this day of days return.

About YOUR HEALTH

Never Take Any Medicine Without Reading the Label

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Where do you keep your household remedies? What sort of bottles and packages do they fill? Is every bottle labelled?

You couldn't hire me to take medicine out of an unlabelled bottle. For twenty-five years there has been a rule in my office which is never violated. Every unlabelled bottle or package of medicine is to be dumped into the sink as soon as it is discovered. The bottle should be supplied with a proper inscription before it is filled.

You may think this is fussy. If you do, come down to the health department some day and let me show you a few death certificates. I will have no trouble in convincing you that unlabelled bottles are dangerous.

Without a label, a bottle is like a pistol. More men and women have been killed by pistols which they or others did not know were loaded than have been destroyed by some wars.

At most every drug and remedy is in some degree a poison. In sufficient quantities they will kill adults. Much smaller doses will destroy children.

Every community should have a law against distributing "samples" of any sort of medicine or other article, which is capable of doing harm if taken into the stomach. No chance should be taken of an improper use being made of the sample.

In many a bathroom or medicine closet is a row of bottles. Sometimes they are labelled and sometimes not. The third bottle on the left is supposed to contain, let us say, argyrol, and the sixth iodine. Another has carbolic acid, and still another a fluid of similar color. How easy it is to transpose the bottles or to mistake one bottle for another.

There is a call in the middle of the night for this or that remedy. You get up in a daze, have no glasses on, and are really incompetent to select the proper bottle. No wonder mistakes occur.

Aspirin and bichloride of mercury tablets may be the same color and the same size. How terrible it is to take the mercury by mistake.

One way to guard against mistakes is to have a needle inserted, business end up, in the cork of every bottle of poison. This may be an uncomfortable, but a definite reminder that the contents of that bottle are dangerous.

There are various inventions of odd-shaped bottles, rough or stippled bottles and others designed to give you a feeling through the sense of feeling that you are holding poison.

But never fail to read the label. Always make sure what the package contains. Make it a rule never to put medicine into a bottle which has on it the label of another article. In short, have the label exactly what a stranger would understand it to mean.

One of the habits everybody should form is to read the label—no matter whether it is medicine, external application or food. The federal, state and municipal laws are strict as regards labelling, and if you would be safe, read the label.

Know what you are taking and never trust to anybody's knowledge except your own. Many a life will be saved when labels are read and when labels read as they should.

FIRE PROTECTION EXTENSION URGED

A second communication from President E. O. Edgerton of the East Bay Water company was received today by the city council, asking for some definite announcement of policy concerning the extension of the fire protection system. The communication was filed, as was the first, some time ago.

A communication from the Progressive Business Men's club, suggesting an increase in the salaries of mayor and commissioners, was also filed.

Oversupply of Natural Blessings Has Held Oakland Back: Robinson

Vice-President of C. of C. Compares City to Rich Man's Son.

An oversupply of natural blessings have operated to hold Oakland back, in the opinion of Harrison S. Robinson, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce and executive chairman of the committee in charge of the chamber's extension campaign. Robinson was the chief speaker, last evening at a meeting of several hundred business men who will assist in the four days' drive, beginning next Tuesday.

"Oakland is very much like the son of a well-to-do parents, surrounded by luxuries with all the blessings that go with money, and confronted with no demand that he fight for his existence," said Robinson. "It is much more difficult for this boy born in wealth to make his name in the world than it is for the child of poor parents to get along."

MANY NATURAL ADVANTAGES.
"There are few cities in the world that have more of the nat-

Scale of per capita support, showing the amount the following cities contributed to their Chambers of Commerce:

	Population	Income	Per
Stockton	40,200	$72,494	$1.80
Vadala	21,107	32,000	1.50
Sacramento	63,507	92,112	1.40
San Jose	30,614	49,877	1.24
Fresno	55,000	61,871	1.18
Long Beach	52,501	48,320	.90
Seattle	315,632	210,763	.70
Portland	235,388	109,150	.54
San Francisco	507,000	220,732	.43
Los Angeles	570,073	153,402	.31
Oakland	216,291	60,000	.18

ural advantages that go to make a city great than has Oakland. It has location; it has a marvelous harbor; it has climate; it has a splendid setting and a wonderfully rich back country; yet its advancement has been very slow. Its residents have been contented with things as they found them. It was easy to make a living, and they have never seen fit to co-operate as other cities do to the end that theirs might be one of the world's great cities.

"But there is something new in Oakland. There is a new spirit in existence here. There is a new desire to go ahead which is going to make Oakland the city that it was intended that it should be."

HAS BEEN BACKWARD.
"Oakland in the past has been the most backward city in the state. Last year Oakland paid but 18 cents per capita toward the support of the Chamber of Commerce; Fresno paid $1.18 per capita; Stockton, $1.80; and Sacramento, $1.40. Every city in California that amounts to anything paid more than Oakland. Former Senator Frank Leavitt, who lived in Oakland for 35 years, but who has spent much time in the East, recently predicted that Oakland was destined to become the greatest industrial city in the West. He urged his hearers to fight for greater co-operation on the part of the people in order that Oakland might reach her proper position among the world's cities.

"Individually the people of Oakland can do little, but joined together through a properly financed Chamber of Commerce they can make this the biggest, strongest, fastest growing city on the Pacific Coast."

Natural Advantages Here Are Extolled by Noted Speakers.

Coast. It is the duty of every business man and woman to become a member of this organization. Any man who makes as much as $150 per month can afford to become a member.

C. O. O. IS FIRST.
"You may belong to this organization or to that organization. Oakland has many fine clubs, but no matter what other club or association you belong to, you also should belong to the Chamber of Commerce."

Lee H. Newbert declared that the development of Oakland was coming even faster than he had expected and declared that the time had arrived for the business men of the city to act.

Among the others who spoke were Barney Cannon, an Eastern business man, who declared that he intended to return to San Francisco today, check out at the Palace Hotel and come over here to assist in putting the Chamber of Commerce campaign over the top. The gathering last evening was the final meeting of the team workers prior to the actual solicitation next Tuesday.

The big meeting in the meantime is the "Forward Oakland" dinner to be held in the Hotel Oakland next Monday evening. More than a thousand are expected to be present on this occasion to hear the state of Oakland's future and listen to Edward T. Trefez, who is being brought to Oakland for the occasion. Trefez, called the "Bully Sunday" of the Chamber of Commerce platform, some of the nation's greatest orators.

Spokane Station's Radio Heard Here

For the first time so far as available records show, Spokane was heard here last night on the radio-telephone. The Doerr Mitchell Electric company's station in Spokane, which is registered as having a 300 mile range, was heard by The Oakland TRIBUNE's station while KPZ was testing with KDZE, the Rhodes company of Seattle. KPZ came in clear, but KDZE could not be heard so clearly. Only snatches of the music were distinct. Spokane is 710 air-line miles from Oakland. KPZ's speech was very plain, and his reactions to KDZE were distinctly understood. The Seattle Post-Intelligencer's station has often been heard in the bay district, but there is no record of Spokane having been heard before, and especially KPZ, which is a station of small power.

Eastbay French Folk to Celebrate

ALAMEDA, July 7.—The Eastbay French colony is to assemble for a two-day celebration of the Fall of the Bastille at Neptune Beach, July 13 and 14. This is the one hundred and thirty-third anniversary of the declaration of French liberty, and elaborate plans have been made for its observance by the local French and French-American citizens.

This will also be the first time that the residents of the Eastbay section have celebrated independence, only of the San Francisco French colony. The big play will be on July 14 when the literary exercises and fireworks display will take place. Of the latter a feature will be a large set of the famous bustle, which will be destroyed.

The literary program will include addresses in French and English, songs of both nationalities, classic and fancy dance numbers, and musical numbers. In the evening dancing will be featured. The committee having charge consists of C. A. Borle, J. D. Palu, Jules S. Godeaux, P. J. Jannetot, E. James, L. C. Chabot and E. Le Meul.

CANDIDATE IS BOOTLEGGED JURY FINDS

Berkeleyan, Aspirant for Seat in Congress on 'Wet' Platform, Is Convicted of Selling Potent Boozie

BERKELEY, July 7.—E. J. Downs, candidate for Congress in the sixth district on an avowed "wet" platform, may be forced to direct some of his campaigning from the county jail as the result of a verdict returned last evening by a jury which found him guilty of bootlegging in the college city.

He was ordered to appear this afternoon for sentencing.

Ellis Dimmick, junior at the Lafayette Apartments, appeared as an unwilling "star" witness against Downs. He refused to testify as to the alleged sale of liquor made to him by Downs on the grounds that his testimony might incriminate him.

"If you don't answer the questions put to you I'll have you for contempt of court," announced the judge. Dimmick answered. Asked if the gallon of liquor which he is declared to have purchased from Downs at a price of $8 contained alcohol on the grounds that his testimony might incriminate him.

Downs declared his arrest is all a "frame-up" on the part of his political opponents. He resides at 4013 Adeline street, Emeryville.

MERCURY VARIES 15 DEGREES IN CITY IN JUNE

Oakland's temperature in June varied only 15 degrees, according to statistics compiled today by officials of Chabot Observatory.

With an average temperature for the entire month of 61.1 degrees, the meteorological instrument at the observatory recorded a maximum of 70.5 degrees and a minimum of 54. Oakland's warmest day during the month was June 17, while the coldest was June 1.

Rain fell on only two days of the month, and only five days out of the entire month were cloudy, according to the observatory records.

Five More Poles Given For "Necklace of Light"

Not only were five more poles added to the "Necklace of Light" today, but the Oakland Round Table, reminding Congress of its quick response to the first call, today announced that it will at its next meeting appoint a committee to "sell" the pole idea to all Oakland business firms, so that the complete "necklace" will soon be subscribed.

There are now 100 poles donated. The donors on today's list include Mrs. P. M. Dunn, Dr. M. M. Buos, Mrs. A. R. Rodgers, the Oakland Lions' Club and the Progressive Business club.

ARE DONATING POLES.
Clubs and organizations are now donating poles, and in the schools several campaigns have begun along the lines planned by Principal C. E. Keyes of Oakland High school, where every pupil donated 10 cents toward an Oakland High school pole.

There are 52 schools in the city, and each plans to donate a pole. The subject will be the first to come before the various student bodies when school reopens.

HAS ANOTHER ANGLE.
The pole campaign has another angle which, according to City Engineer W. W. Harmon, might be of value to those backing the "Northern California" campaign.

"As soon as the plan for ornamental poles around Lake Merritt was announced," says Harmon, "Los Angeles concrete and iron firms immediately sent catalogues, with cuts and prices of desirable light poles. San Francisco and Oakland business firms have not yet been heard from to any great extent. "Perhaps no incident may be of Interest to students of the Northern California campaign."

A lady who lives on a plantation in the southern part of Alabama went up to Birmingham on a visit. Upon her return an old negro man, living on an adjoining place, who occasionally did odd jobs for her, dropped by to welcome her home and to tell her the news of the neighborhood.

"Whist you was gone Aunt Mallie died," he said. Aunt Mallie was a poor old black woman who lived in a tumble-down cabin half a mile away on a back road.

"Oh, that's too bad," said the white lady sympathetically. "How long was she sick?"

"Jes' three or fo' days," he said.

"What ailed her?"

"They didn' nobody know. One mawnin' she up and fell and she kep' on gittin' wuss and wuss till de fo'th day come and den, all of a sudden, she hauled off an' died."

"Who was the doctor?" inquired his patron.

Uncle Wiggily Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARDNER

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUDDY'S BISCUITS.

ONCE upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods with his pink, twinkling nose, looking for an adventure, all of a sudden the bunny rabbit gentleman saw the house where Buddy, the little guinea pig boy, lived. He heard a clattering and banging noise coming from the kitchen. There was a tinkle of tin pans.

"Ah, Mrs. Pig is baking something," thought Uncle Wiggily. "I am just in time. She may offer me a slice of carrot longcake or a lollypop tart."

With his pink nose twinkling like a frosted star on top of a Christmas tree, Uncle Wiggily reached the kitchen door. The clattering, banging noise of the tin pans sounded more loudly, but what was the surprise of the bunny gentleman to see Buddy, the guinea pig boy, with an apron on and his sleeves rolled up, standing at the kitchen table. "Why, Buddy!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, as he entered the kitchen. "I am glad to see that you are helping your mother do the housework. I suppose she is lying down with a headache, and Brighteyes is fanning her, while you are washing the dishes."

"Well, not exactly," answered Buddy with a funny little laugh. "Not that I wouldn't wash the dishes if my mother had a headache, but she hasn't I'm glad to say. What I'm doing is making biscuits."

"Making biscuits," cried Uncle Wiggily in surprise. "I didn't know you could do that."

"Well, said Buddy slowly, 'I'm not so sure myself that I can, but I'm going to try. You see mother has gone calling, and Brighteyes is with her,' he explained. 'So, while she's out, I'm making a pan of biscuits for supper to surprise her.'"

"That will be fine!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I hope the biscuits will turn out the same way!" laughed Buddy, as he looked at a bowl in which he was mixing some flour and water. "I was just going to put them in the oven when you came in," he said.

"What? Are the biscuits made so soon?" asked the bunny. "Well, all I did was to put a little flour in a bowl and pour on some water," explained Buddy. "That's the way mother does, for I've watched her. After she mixes up the flour and water she makes little dabs, or round balls, of dough, puts them in a pan, puts the pan in the hot oven and pretty soon out come brown biscuits."

"Hum!" murmured Uncle Wiggily. "It sounds all right, but seems to me there ought to be something more in biscuits than just flour and water."

"Oh, I don't guess so," spoke Buddy, cheerful like and confident, as he put the pan, filled with little lumps of dough, into the oven.

"Oughtn't there be molasses?" asked the bunny. "You're thinking of gingerbread!" laughed the guinea pig boy, as he closed the oven door.

"That's right, so I am!" admitted Uncle Wiggily. "Well, as long as you are here alone, I'll stay and see how your biscuits bake."

"They ought to be done pretty soon now," went on Buddy. "I can smell them cooking," and truly a most delightful odor filled the kitchen. Uncle Wiggily sniffed with his pink nose. "I think they are baked now," spoke Buddy, after a while. He opened the oven door, and he and Uncle Wiggily looked within. On the pan were a number of brown lumps.

Oh, my goodness! howled the fox.

"They're baked!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I've seen Nurse Jane make biscuits, and when her's got that color she takes them out. But, if you will excuse me speaking of it, Buddy, I think that there ought to have been something else in them besides just flour and water. Oughtn't there have been some yeast?"

"You're thinking of bread," said Buddy. "That's right! So I am!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "Well, anyhow, your biscuits look good and they smell fine!"

"I'll let you see how they taste as soon as they cool a bit," promised Buddy, taking the pan out of the oven, using a cloth holder, so he wouldn't burn his paws.

Soon the biscuits were cool, and just as Buddy and Uncle Wiggily were going to eat some, all of a sudden the door of the kitchen opened, and in came the bad old Fuzzy Fox.

"Oh, ho! Now for ears to nibble!" howled the Fox. "Don't let him nibble my ears!" cried Buddy. "Throw something at him, Uncle Wiggily!"

The bunny gentleman looked for something to throw, but all he saw were Buddy's biscuits. He tossed one of them at the Fox.

"Bang!" It hit the bad chap on the head with a thump like that of a stone.

"Oh, my goodness!" howled the Fox. "What are you throwing at me that's so hard? You hit me with a rock! Oh, how sore my head is! I guess I'll nibble ears some other day!" He ran out of the kitchen, but a swish of his tail knocked the pan of biscuits to the floor. They rattled and banged like a wheelbarrow full of bricks. Uncle Wiggily picked up one of the biscuits as the Fox ran away, and threw it after the bad chap, hitting him again.

"Oh, wow! Another stone!" howled the Fox.

"Why does he call my biscuits stones?" asked Buddy.

"Because they're that hard!" answered Uncle Wiggily. "Feel of them!" And, of course, being made only of flour and water, Buddy's biscuits were too heavy. He had forgotten the baking powder, but it was a good thing, else the Fox might have nibbled some ears. When Mrs. Pig came home she laughed at Buddy's biscuits and made some soft ones for Uncle Wiggily.

Odd Bits of Humor

"Lie back a little farther in the chair," coaxed the barber, as "The Dandee" lay on his back. "If you don't mind I'll stay as I am. The last time I lay back I fell asleep, and when I woke up I owed the barber my next week's wages."

In the middle of a stupid card party one of the guests spoke to a young man who was yawning. "In-sufferably boring, isn't it? If it weren't so embarrassing I'd go home."

"Yeah. Wish I could, too; but, hang it all, I live here."

"Well, well, young gentlemen!" exclaimed the affable old person. "I'd give a great deal to be able to join in your sport."

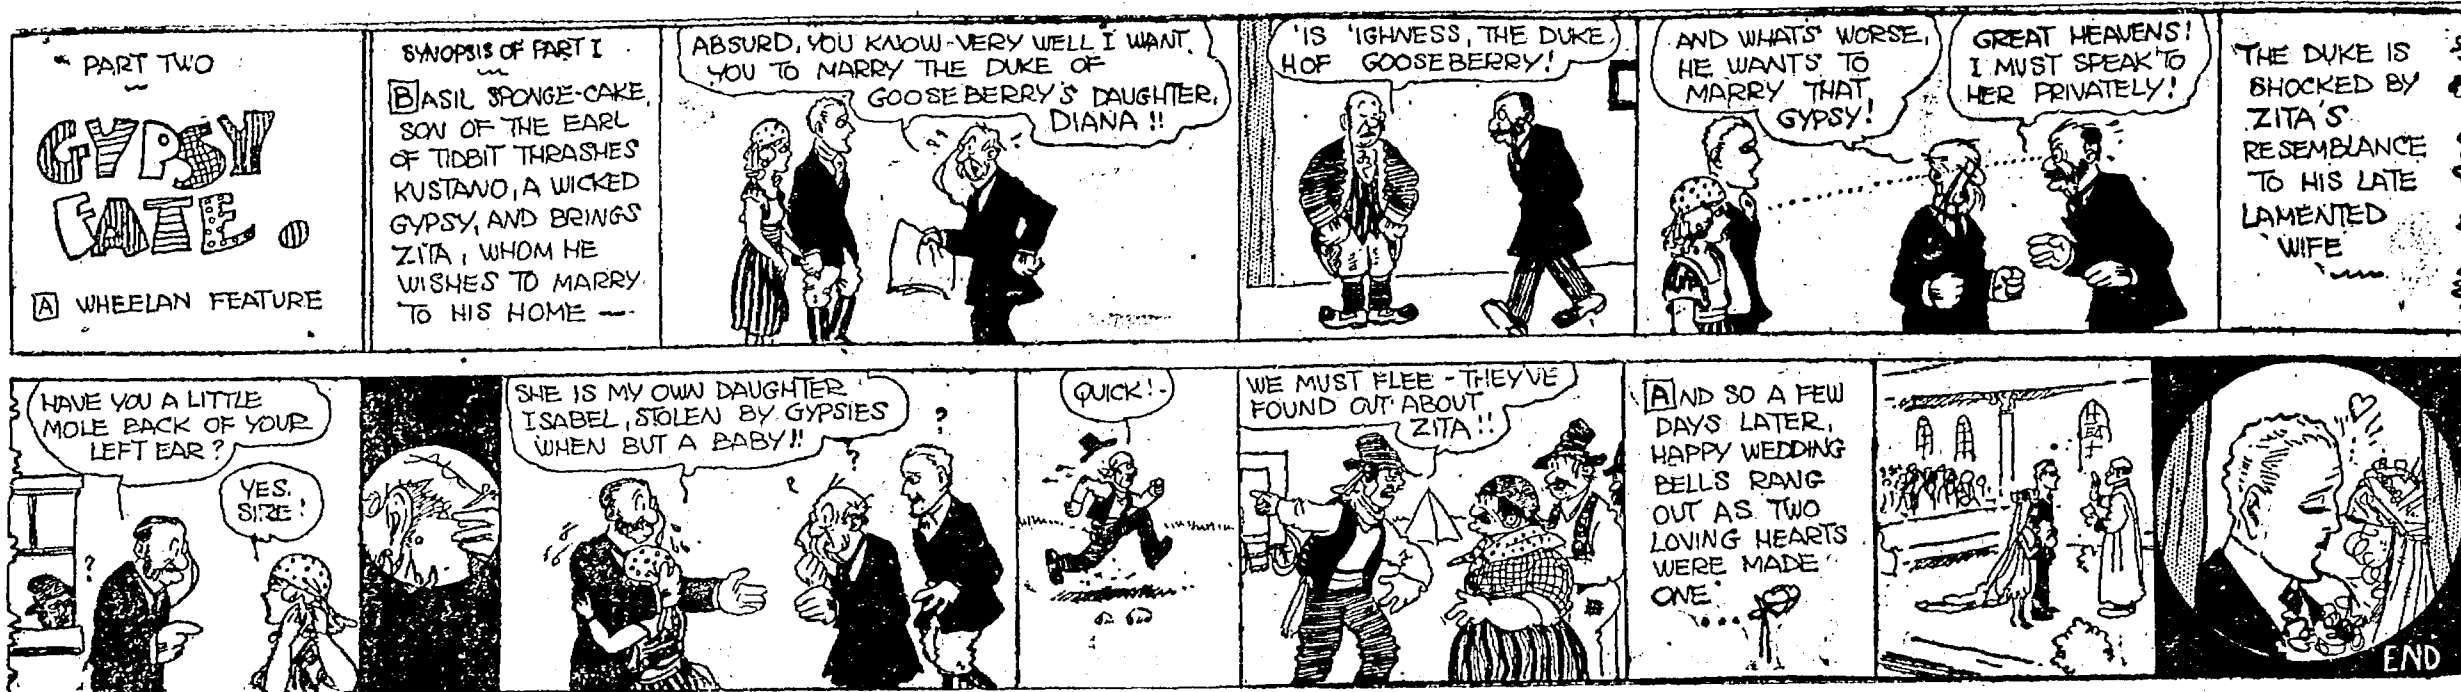

"Stick around, grandpa," said one sturdy youngster. "If we knock this ball through somebody's window we'll let you go for it."

Mrs. Blackstone—How in the world do you manage to get your husband to take you to dances so often?

Mrs. Webster—By using diplomacy, my dear. Since I told him that only the young men could dance these modern steps he is eager to prove to me that he isn't getting old.

FOREST RANGER RESCUED FROM CIRCLE OF FIRE

Timber Areas of Northwest
Swept by Fires; Two Die,
Many Missing.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 7.—Fanned in all night by a wall of flame, burning fiercely about their home near Southern Pacific tunnel 32, on the Portland-Vancouver line, Forest Ranger H. C. Hoover, his wife and baby were brought to safety today when a Southern Pacific train ran the gauntlet of the flames and reached the isolated home.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
SEATTLE, July 7.—Forest fires are raging in virtually every timbered area of the Pacific northwest and hundreds of men were being rushed this morning to augment the crews which have been working to control blazes constantly growing in number and size for the last week or ten days.

With the weather forecast holding in prospect for relief the forest protective associations of owners worked men all last night and telephoned to labor centers for more fighters.

Fires are burning in every county of western Washington from the Canadian border to the Columbia river in eastern Washington, northern Idaho, western Montana, central and western Oregon.

LOGGING ABANDONED.

The situation is so serious that leading logging operators of western Washington have with few exceptions, abandoned all effort to work in the woods lest they add to the peril by the danger of setting new blazes in the tinder-dry areas.

Appeal by Governor Hart that they suspend operations until a rain relieves the fire menace, has been met by most of the loggers, many of whom did not start up after the fourth of July holiday.

The principal exceptions are operators furnishing logs to mills which would have to shut down without their daily supply.

The situation in Skagit and Whatcom counties was reported growing more serious hourly. In eastern Thurston county a fire last night got beyond control of the crew fighting it and was racing toward one of the largest stands of virgin Douglas fir left on the coast.

In the spruce stands of Clallum county crews were working to keep in check blazes which have been burning for several days.

NEW FIRES STARTING.

From Gray's Harbor, Willapa Bay, Cowlitz, Snohomish and Pierce counties come reports of new fires or old ones kept within control with difficulty.

How great is the damage already done cannot be estimated. In many cases the fires have been confined to areas once logged off. In almost every case, however, the effort has been to keep the blaze from reaching valuable tracts.

Architect to Begin

Hearst Hall Plans

BERKELEY, July 7.—Bernard Mayhew, creator of the Palace of Fine Arts at the San Francisco Exposition and architect chosen to design the new Hearst Hall on the University of California campus, has returned from a summer outing to the Hawaiian Islands. Mayhew will begin work at once on plans for the new campus building.

America's Duty

Is to Help World,

Says Harding

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,

International News Service Staff

Correspondent

NEW CONCORD, Ohio, July 7.

"It is America's duty to help the world get on its feet," President Harding declared here this afternoon in accepting the Muskingum College degree of doctor of laws.

The president's address to the small student body of his old college extolled the principle of service.

"College students of today," the president said, "can have no higher ideal than that of service to mankind."

"The greatest thing in life," he said, "is to live for others."

No life is worth while which is not a life of service."

The President called attention to the situation of Russia today as indicating how far down the world's scale a nation can go when it once forgets its ideal of service.

The President said that it had been forty years since he received his degree of bachelor of science from Ohio Central College, now merged into Muskingum College.

WOMEN OUT TO FILL VETERANS' LOAN PETITIONS

Clubwomen today went to the assistance of the American Legion, which is sponsoring the circulation of the petitions to place upon the November ballot the constitutional amendment enabling the state of California to lend funds to state veterans for the purchase of homes and farm lands. Business houses, the entire downtown section, and outlying precincts will be covered by the volunteer workers, who will ask for signatures on behalf of the ex-service men.

Adoption of the amendment will make available $10,000,000 for the purchase of farms to the sum of $7500 and homes to the value of $5000 by California veterans. The entire purpose of the proposed amendment which will go to the vote by initiative petition is to give to the state the right to lend the money, it was explained by Legion representatives this morning. The bond issue already has been held constitutional by the Supreme

THRESHING CREWS OPEN SEASON ON BIG BARLEY CROP

PLEASANTON, July 7.—With ideal weather conditions at present, harvest of the hay and grain crop of the Amador valley is progressing rapidly and indications are that when the hay is baled one of the largest tonnages in the history of the valley will have been handled.

In addition to the baling crews at work in the fields, threshing crews began work this week in the barley fields. A large crop of barley will be threshed, it was said by ranchers today.

Hundreds of men are working in the baling, binding and threshing crews this week.

ing that through my experience in handling municipal affairs that I would be the logical selection of the people for the office. I am naturally complimented by this tribute of my friends and feel now that I shall make a campaign on the platform of my record in my present position."

Political Notes.

Henry F. Vogt, secretary of the Oakland board of park directors, which position he has held for more than twelve years, has today announced his candidacy for county auditor. Discussing his entry into the race, Vogt said:

"Hundreds of my friends have come to me in the last few weeks pledging their support and suggest-

HUSBAND, CUT OFF IN WIFE'S WILL, TO FILE CONTEST

Former Wife of "Gunboat" Smith, Pugilist, Influenced by Sistor, Charge.

MARTINEZ, July 7.—Frank W. Starkey, proprietor of the Villalobos hotel in Richmond, cut off in the will of his wife, the late Eleanor Starkey, with a bequest of $1, has instituted a contest in the probate court of several Richmond homes and lots and diamonds said to be valued at several thousands and declared to have been presented to Mrs. Starkey when she was the wife of "Gunboat" Smith, former heavyweight pugilist. In filing the contest Starkey is opposing his sister-in-law, Genevieve Yepsen, whom he charges in his complaint with influence over his wife.

Starkey claims his wife was not of sound mind when she signed her will a few days previous to her death at a hospital in Oakland; that witnesses did not sign the instrument in the presence of Mrs. Starkey and that the witnesses did not hear Mrs. Starkey proclaim the will.

Genevieve Yepsen, in her petition for probate of the estate, fixed its value at $1500.

Restaurant OwnerAnd Merchant Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—August Kallmos, proprietor of the Panama Restaurant, 38 Embarcadero, living at 443 Tenth avenue, had three fingers amputated and suffered a lacerated lip in a struggle with George Likas, a merchant of 140 Fairmont street, who came out with two blackened eyes. The dispute occurred in front of Kallmos' place and the police say the restaurant man threw a sugar bowl and then a bottle at Likas, hitting the latter's eyes. Likas is alleged to have drawn a knife and slashed at Kallmos. Likas was booked on an assault charge.

STARLIGHT

John McElone Gibson

Virginia Fairfax, daughter of the first family of Virginia, rebels against the patriarchal rule of her grandfather and, lured by Illinois, runs away to become a madame. A friend, Virginia Fairfax, is given a very important place in a picture by Theodore Stratton, a film star. Stratton, a friend, warned Virginia against falling in love with Stratton. Maud Sanson, Stratton's leading lady, quarrels with him. Virginia is led into the arms of the film star. Chased by drink, he obtained a ticket to the city. He is a mad, mad man, but in Hollywood. Kitty fears Theodore will kill her. She confides in the Rev. John Strickland, who is a drug addict, comes upon them. He draws a revolver to kill John Strickland. The bullet pierces her. She dies after a touching love scene with the Rev. John Strickland. There is a mad scene in the picture. A mature woman of the east, invites Virginia to lunch. Virginia learned from Mrs. Chester that she had been a director in Los Angeles. The next day the cast in which Virginia is acting goes to San Francisco. Virginia is taken to the city. It is announced the death of the film star. The picture is a success. The package contained a letter from her father and mother. She is moved by her mother's diary, took a taxi and drove to a point above the Golden Gate. There, the beauty of the scene fitted her mood. She returned late.

I wondered if I would have courage enough to cross the room to the telephone, but even at the thought I cowered down farther beneath the bed clothes. I listened intently, terror-stricken. Presently I heard the knob turned again. Summonsing my courage, I raised up in bed, watching the door, fascinated by fear. I heard profane expletives spoken under breath. I did not know what to do. One moment I was determined to call the office, and the next moment it came to me that if I did the man on the other side would probably insist that I had been dreaming. I almost gained courage enough to speak and then another and still louder burst of profanity made me hesitate. Again great force seemed to be used against the door without so much care to make it noiseless. Slowly I pushed away the covers and, swinging my feet to the thickly carpeted floor. Softly I crept toward the turning knob.

In intended to whisper, but instead in my fright, my voice came so loud that it frightened me. "Who is there? What do you want?" I demanded. "Hush! Hush! Baby-child!" My knees weakened and I sank to the floor on my chins. A cold shudder ran over me, and then I felt my stiffening lips almost smiling as I thought: "How silly to be frightened of Theo. He probably was worried about me and was peeping in to see if I was asleep. And then another horrible thought assailed me. How did he know that this room was mine? Why had the heavy door been taken from across the doorway and why had my side of the door been left unlocked? I tried to get up and crawl back to bed. I determined not to speak to him again under any circumstances. I could not get to my feet. I was so horror-stricken and yet I was not sure that I had any reason to be afraid. "Virgie, it is Theo. Open the door. Don't you understand, Virgie? Let me in." And he rattled the doorknob so loudly I was afraid someone else would hear him. "What do you want, Theo? I left a card saying I did not wish to be disturbed." "Why, Baby-child, I want to come in. I haven't seen you all day. How could you go away and leave me this way. Let me in." "Theo, it is after 12 o'clock." "Of course, dear, but what difference does that make? I want to come in and tell you how much I love you." "I don't understand you, Theo." "You love me, don't you?" "I did not answer." "Open the door," he commanded, angrily. "I am coming in." He threw his whole weight against it. His voice changed. There was a guttural sound that I had never heard before, and in my terror it seemed to me that the bolt sprung a little. I caught up my handkerchief, which was lying on a table near and stuffed it into my mouth for fear that I should scream. Again the door rattled. This time it showed that there was an angry man behind it. "Don't be a fool, Virgie, let me in." To my horror there was an instant rap at my hall door. (Copyright John P. Dille Co.) PROFESSIONALS ARE SHOOTING PAR GOLF AT SKOKIE

HARRY GREB MAY BE SELECTED AS DEMPSEY'S VICTIM IN LABOR DAY BATTLE IN THE EAST

Leading Golf Players Meet In Windy City

Select Gathering of Stars Entered in the National Tournament.

CHICAGO, July 7.—(By The Associated Press).—Leading golfers of the world came to Chicago to compete next week in the national open championship at Skokie, praying for par scores, but now they are yearning for rain, as the fast fairways make par easy if the long drives do not slide into sand traps, but by the same token make the going treacherous and the ultimate result too largely dependent on luck.

Scarcely a drop of rain has quenched the thirsty turf of the splendid links for 40 days, and drives far in excess of the usual 250 yards are easy on the baked fairways. The lies are good, despite the drought, but on dogleg holes and the putting side slopes, it is difficult to control the ball. The putting greens are fine as a result of watering and those players who have been fortunate enough to keep the ball in the narrow way have found such fine putting that par has been bettered several times. William Mahgorn of Shreveport has even shot the 658-yard link in 66 and yesterday three men made the course in 68, while three more took 69 as against the par of 70. An inexperienced scorer at first credited the 66 to Leo Diegel of New Orleans, who, however, has covered the 18 holes in 68.

MacDONALD DOES WELL.
Bonnie MacDonald, one of the longest drivers in the world, had some drives on the fast fairways that neared the 400-yard mark, and it remains to be seen how far Abe Mitchell of Great Britain will be able to shoot when he begins practice on the Skokie links. Mitchell and George Duncan unleashed their clubs at a nearby course yesterday, scoring 74 and 72 respectively.

Neither Jim Barnes of New York, present titleholder, nor Walter Hagen, of Detroit, British open champion, have tried the Skokie links, and may not do so before the elimination play begins next Monday.

"There is an unusually fine field of amateurs entered in the event, which now has 310 men listed to start with a dozen more in prospect. If Francis Ouimet decides to play all the crack amateurs of the country will be there, including Jesse Guifford of Boston, national champion; Bobby Jones of Atlanta, southern champion; and Chick Evans, of Chicago, western champion for the seventh time.

There is also a wide geographic representation, for, in addition to the two famous Britons, the Scotch champion, Alec Armour and the Australian title holder, Joe Kirkwood, there are players from the Pacific coast, a score or more from the south and at least one from nearly every state in the Union.

If the sub-par scoring keeps up during the tournament, Walter Hagen will have to shoot remarkably low to win the title for the third time and perform the unparalleled trick of taking both the British and the American titles in one year; for the Beau Brummel of the links is not noted for shooting round in the 60s but for keeping close down to 70 all the time. Jim Barnes, in defending time, will have the same task, for he also is not of the shoot-your-head-off variety. But, according to several mature professionals, and in view of the startling scores thus far recorded, the prediction of Jack Hutchinson is believed by them to be good. "Give me four 72s and I'll sit in the clubhouse and win from those who play."

'Round the Sport Circle

By HENRY L. FARRELL,
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, July 7.—(United Press)—John A. Heydler, president of the National League, after an exhaustive study and observation, gives the opinion that the American League leads his circuit in home runs hit by the many short fences in the younger league.

Summed up, Heydler points out that the American League has eight short right field fences to shoot at, while the National League has only five.

The Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Boston National League parks have fences that are almost as much of a slinger under the Ruth type. Leaving Ruth out of the figures, because he has been one in a generation, the percentage in favor of the American League is hardly eight to five.

In defining the slugger, the home run hitter is given the preference because of the natural appeal of a ball smacked over the fence. It would seem more fair, however, to consider the three-base hitter because under the present conditions with short fields it is more difficult to hit a triple because the ball has to be dropped at a bare spot within the confines of the fences.

Stretching a point, it might be granted that the league with the most three-base hitters is the real slugging organization. Leaving Ruth again out of the reckoning, the National League has the greater number of three-bagger stars.

Counting sixteen made by Ruth, the American League hit 694 triples last season as against 670 poled out by National League stars. The following table shows the leaders in both leagues:

AMERICAN		NATIONAL

No small factor in the success of the St. Louis Browns is young Marty McManus, the brilliant second baseman.

McManus had a tough job to step into the hole caused by the disqualification of Joe Gedeon and it took him a year to do it.

In addition to being a hustling youngster with good hands and fine arm, McManus has branched out somewhat as a home run hitter. He succeeded only after passing through the singing fire of the razz. He had a sore arm when he broke in and his throwing was affected, but the fans didn't know that—and fans are fans.

Several dark clouds will be allowed to move over the ring if the New York Boxing Commission should take its secret ban off mixed bouts.

The Dempsey-Willard fight, of course, would be the banner attraction. It Dempsey would fight the Black Panther.

Kid Norfolk, the dusky light heavyweight, could hold his own with any of the white boys in his class and Panama Joe Gans would not be a soft mark for any of the middleweights.

Then there is Little Danny Edwards, the western bantamweight, who would have much to say with any of the little fellows.

"Tut" Jackson, the Ohio heavyweight, is another somber shade coming up over the hill. If Jackson gets over Jack Johnson he is worthy of a lot of notice, because Ed Arthur is still well enough to take care of himself.

Neither Corbett nor Jeffries drew the color line and if Dempsey wants to establish a precedent, he is welcome to all the "credit" that he will derive from it.

Professional baseball is the only sport that consistently clings to the color line. Big eastern universities allow colored boys to play on their football teams and some of them have been great stars.

Ned Gouldin, one of Howard's greatest all round track and field athletes and the holder of the world's broad jump record, is a colored man, and Shelbourne, the Dartmouth football and track star as well as a member of the 1920 American Olympic team, also is colored.

Black men may be condemned and discriminated against, but there aren't many of them in athletics who would have sold out a world's series.

Shimizu and Garland Meet In Semi-Final

William Tilden to Play Former College Champ in His Half Tomorrow.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 7.—

Zenzo Shimizu, Japanese Davis cup player, and Charles Garland Jr., Pittsburgh, were to play today in the semi-final match in the twelfth annual national tennis tournament, which is being held at the Woodstock Country Club. William T. Tilden II, Philadelphia world champion, will play Walter Westbrooke, Detroit, former western conference collegiate champion, in the other semi-final match Saturday. The title round will be played Sunday. Senior doubles play will continue today and Saturday and the title doubles round will be played Sunday.

William T. Tilden II, Philadelphia world's champion, will play Walter Westbrooke, Detroit, and Zenzo Shimizu, Japanese Davis cup player, will meet Chas. Garland Jr., Pittsburgh, in the final match of the twelfth annual National Senior Claycourt tennis championship singles as a result of victories yesterday at the Woodstock Country Club.

Westbrooke and Shimizu will play today and the other semi-final match will be played tomorrow.

Vray Brown of St. Louis, Washington University player, pushed Tilden the hardest in the tournament when he won the championship's service and volley in the first set, 4-2. Tilden's overhead drives, however, won the first set, 6-4. Brown again hit Tilden 2-11 in the second set, when his jabbing and brilliant stroking weakened, and Tilden took the set and match, 6-2. Brown and Tilden each scored two service aces, and Tilden doubled Brown's number of placement aces. Brown is the first man to have taken more than two games from Tilden here. Shimizu quickly disposed of Theodore Drewes, St. Louis, 6-1, 6-0, and Tilden defeated Arthur Hubbell, Chicago, 6-2, 6-4.

Garland defeated Fritz Bastian, Indianapolis, 7-0, 4-4.

Leonard W. Reed Jr., Pittsburgh, won his way to the finals of the senior department by defeating Julius Sagalowsky, Indianapolis, national boys and national interscholastic champion, 1-6, 6-3, 6-2. Reed plays George Lot, Chicago, in the first National Junior clay court title Friday.

Donald Strachan, Philadelphia, will play Harry Von Burg, Indianapolis, and Byron Donaldson, St. Louis, in the semi-final round of the boys' tournament as a result of play today.

The finals of the boys' tournament and the senior department men's doubles will be played tomorrow. The title round in senior singles and doubles will be played Sunday.

Kahanamoku to Meet Grace in Southern Tank

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Duke Kahanamoku, Hawaiian swimmer, will meet Walter Grace, of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, in a fifty-yard race and also swim against Jack Robertson, Olympic Club, San Francisco, and Tom Blake, of the local club, in a 100-yard race in a swimming program to be held in the club tank tonight.

Misses Helen Walnwright and Ethel McGary, of the New York Swimming Association, who are seen in the picture against club stars, will race the world's record for the 50-yard dash, 28.3 seconds. She will race that distance against Miss Ethel McGary, whose record for 50 yards is 28.1 seconds. Miss Walnwright will also race Miss Viola Hartman and Katherine Brown, two L. A. C. swimmers, in a 220-yard dash.

Miss Ethel McGary, 14 years old, holder of the national 44 and 500-yard swimming records, will pit her strength against Miss Marie Curtis and Lois Barry, local swimmers in a 500-yard affair.

Mlle. Lenglen Playing Semi-Finals Today

Randolph Lycett Defeats Gilbert in Men's Singles Play at Wimbledon.

WIMBLEDON, July 7.—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, of France, playing the semi-finals of the International Grass Court Tennis tournament today against Mrs. Deane, English star, won the first set 6-1 and was leading by the score of 4-1 in the second set, when rain forced temporary suspension of the match.

Randolph Lycett, British star, won the first important match of the day when he defeated J. B. Gilbert in the semi-finals of the men's tournament at 6-1, 9-7 and 6-2.

The start of the day's program was delayed by a cloudburst which drenched thousands standing outside the stadium gates holding up the slim hope of gaining admission.

Mrs. Mallory and Miss Sigourney met defeat at the hands of Mrs. Lambert Chambers and Mrs. George W. Wightman and Mrs. Franklin I. Mallory. According to the announcement of Dr. Summer, which now bears the names of Mrs. George W. Wightman and Mrs. Franklin I. Mallory. According to the announcement of Dr. Summer, which now bears the names of Mrs. George W. Wightman and Mrs. Franklin I. Mallory.

Entry is open to members of clubs affiliated with the U. S. L. T. A. The fee being $5. Each entry must be made in writing, accompanied by the fee, and must name the club of which the player is a member and give a brief statement of her tournament record for 1922. Entries close on August 9 and should be addressed to the United States Lawn Tennis Association, 20 Broad street, New York City. The committee on tennis for women, of which Joseph M. Jennings of Philadelphia is chairman, is authorized to restrict the entry to players whose records warrant their competing for the championship. The draw will be made at the office of the national association, about August 10. Mr. Jennings will act as referee.

She repeated later in the doubles, with Elizabeth Ryan of California, when they defeated Mrs. Weston and Mrs. Welch, 6-0, 6-1.

Miss Ryan, who has opposed Mlle. Lenglen more often than anyone else, for they have been accustomed to meet in every final during the Riviera season, expressed the opinion that the French woman is playing in her best form.

For the semi-final between Mrs. Mallory and Mrs. Beamsish the chances are considered in favor of the American, as it is generally conceded that Mrs. Mallory is a sensational player.

The French representatives informed The Associated Press yesterday that the chances of the French team will go to America for the Davis cup as Paris is expected to approve the arrangement.

GOLF FACTS worth knowing

by INNIS BROWN

Q. Can a player be penalized for asking the approximate distance to the hole before he is preparing to play?

A. If he asks or willingly receives such advice from anyone except his caddy, his partner, or his partner's caddy, he is penalized by the loss of the hole.

Q. Is a ball that crosses out of bounds (for instance, where a boundary corner near the line of play) but lands on the course, considered to have been played out of bounds?

A. No, the ball applies only to a hole, but lies out of bounds.

Q. Is a player required to play a ball from a depression that gives him a better lie, where he has lifted and dropped the ball as provided by the rules, or is he entitled to lift and drop again?

A. He must play the ball from where it stops, unless it rolls into a hazard in which case it can be lifted and dropped again without additional penalty.

Q. Does a player suffer a penalty where his caddy, standing at the hole to handle the flag, fails to lift the flag as the ball approaches, but is unable to get it out in time to prevent the ball from striking the hole?

A. Yes. It is the duty of the caddy to see that the flag is in such a position that it can be lifted when he is ready to do so.

Q. Am I allowed to lift and drop my ball without penalty if it stops in casual water in the rough, or does this apply only through the fairway or putting green?

A. You can lift and drop without penalty from casual water in the rough.

If any golf rules puzzle you, write Innis Brown, care of our Sporting Department, enclosing stamped, return envelope.

Sybil Bauer Breaks More Tank Records

Nine Records Have Fallen Before I. A. C. Mermaid on Eastern Trip.

NEW YORK, July 7.—For the third time within a week Miss Sybil Bauer of the Illinois Athletic Club yesterday smashed world record marks when she defeated Miss Dorothy Donahue, of the Women's Swimming Association of New York, in a 40-yard swim at the Manhattan Beach Lagoon. The time was 6 minutes, 38.3 seconds, 11.2 seconds lower than the previous world's record, established by her in 1921 in the Illinois Athletic Club.

"In accomplishing this surprising feat Miss Bauer passed the 220-yard mark in 2 minutes 17.1 seconds, breaking her own record of but two days standing for the event.

On the same day she lowered Miss Blount's former record for 100 yards by nine seconds, covering the distance in 1 minute 24.1 seconds. SUGAR GOES TO $6.90 PER 100 IN NEW JUMP

Peaches Are Weak Under Large Offerings; Market Slightly Firmer.

Sugar got in line on the reported increase in the cost of living by the Department of Commerce and climbed 50 cents a hundred today from $6.60 to $6.90 for refined cane.

There was a deluge of peaches in the market and prices were shot to pieces. Much of the fruit coming in is soft and must be sold quickly to avoid total loss. This is keeping the market for this fruit weak. Apricots on the other hand are firm and demand for plums active.

Arrivals today included three cars of cantaloupes, three cars of watermelons, two cars of potatoes from the southern part of the state and one car of bananas.

Price of Food Is Again Rising

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(By International News Service.)—Food prices in the United States are going up again, the Department of Labor announced today.

During the period from May 15 to June 15 there was a 1.5 percent increase in the cost of food.

The increase was due to a 3 percent increase in the cost of wheat and a 1 percent increase in the cost of corn.

As compared with the average cost in 1913, the retail cost of food on June 15 last was 41 percent higher in Dallas and 38 percent in Kansas City.

MORE APRICOTS GO TO CANNERS THAN DRYERS

Prospect of Small Production Sends All Prices Soaring Skyward.

Though the California apricot crop will be slightly larger than the one grown last year, the dried apricot tonnage during the coming season will probably be less, according to a statement issued today by the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association. Last year's dried tonnage of California apricots amounted to about 25,000,000 pounds at the time of the statement.

The high prices being paid by the canners and green fruit shippers for this year's crop apricots is responsible for the small tonnage of dried fruit which is expected, according to the growers' association.

A heat wave during the height of the ripening season, however, would result in much larger production of dried apricots than is now estimated, as hot weather would ripen the fruit so rapidly that it would be impossible for the canners to handle the fruit and the result in the growers drying their apricots.

Exceptionally high prices are being paid for future dried apricots owing to the prospects of a small production, according to H. D. Goydall, general manager of the association.

The California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association, the growers' association which handles seventy-five per cent of the dried apricot production of the state, has temporarily withdrawn from the market after selling a small portion of the San Joaquin dried apricots which are first to be packed. Opening prices at which the association sold these apricots range from 17 1/2 cents to 27 1/2 cents per pound.

BASTILE'S FALL TO BE OBSERVED
AT IDORA PARKFrench Residents of County
Arrange Elaborate Program.

French residents of Alameda county are preparing a big celebration to commemorate the fall of the Bastille, at Idora Park on July 14. A program is being arranged, including literary exercises, American and French patriotic music, and selections by famous French singers.

Abbe Henry Langland, officer of the French Academy and a former captain in the United States Army, will be the speaker of the day.

Special addresses will be made by P. Coppinger, French consul, and Mayor Davie. Following the program there will be games and dancing. The pupils of Mme. Beart will present several dance numbers.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes Chairman Edouard Feret, Vice-president E. A. Bourdieu, Vice-president J. Touja and the following members of the French colony in Alameda county:

P. A. Fontaine, P. Lascourties, F. Brochier, P. M. LaVergne, A. Goul, A. Belledent, J. Lassalle, H. Bordenave, J. P. Mirande, J. B. Nayarot, P. Caubisens, F. Cursente, F. Mellette, F. Brochier, B. Bourdieu, J. D. Paul and P. Chanquet.

California Town
Gets First Road

REDDING, Cal., July 3.—The "Wild and Woolly West" is still in existence in some portions of the state of California.

In these days of paved highways, automobiles, etc., the mountain town of Limestone, in western Trinity county, just recently celebrated connection with the outside world via a wagon road connection. The advent of the first wagon into the town was soon followed by several automobiles and was the occasion of a joyous celebration.

Among the ancients, writers of manuscripts were mainly freedmen or slaves.

Stockton Mayor
Flies to Aid of Cheery Rooster

BERKELEY, July 7.—The first defense of the crowing rooster in the agitation against that barnyard emperor was voiced today in the city council meeting when a communication was read from Mayor D. P. Eicke of Stockton.

Mayor Eicke wrote to Mayor Louis Bartlett in answer to a communication sent by Miss Gertrude Churny, university junior, who is leading the fight on roosters, and declared that he would not raise his hand to pass an ordinance of the kind sought in Berkeley.

The communication from the Mayor of Stockton is in part: "History informs us that the cackling of the geese saved Rome; likewise we know that the braying of an ass has put many a man into political office."

"From time immemorial and before Big Ben and any such rasping noise was invented to bring man forth in the morning to his labors the clear musical voice of the chattering rooster man from his slumbers to go forth and till the field."

"The sentiment of the writer regarding the rooster: 'Long may he wave.'"

Colbourn Dodges
Rooster Challenge

Oakland's roosters are in trouble, too. Forgotten recent episodes of barking dogs, yowling cats and new cow ordinances, the roosters came into official notice again today when a communication of Gertrude Churny, University of California student, was received by Commissioner Frank Colbourn.

The Berkeleyan cites that the matter has gone before the Berkeley council, and wants to know what the Oakland council will do about it. In part, she says:

"There is a strong public sentiment against the rooster nuisance, as widespread suffering and even illness have been caused by people being kept awake half the night."

Commissioner Colbourn spoke as follows: "I am leaving for a thirty-day vacation today."

ALAMEDA COUNTY
PRODUCTS BOOST
GIVEN SUPPORTCity Authorities and School Board to Be Urged to Favorable Action.

The campaign of the Merchants' Exchange, to place Alameda county products on an equitable basis for use by the city and county, which has received the endorsement of the Board of Supervisors, will be brought to the attention of the city and the Board of Education, according to announcements made yesterday by E. H. Hart, secretary of the organization.

"Heretofore Alameda county produced products have been placed on the defensive," explained Hart. "The purchasing agents of the city and county and the Board of Education have taken the attitude that Alameda county products must be made to measure up with products produced by outside vicinities. We believe that Alameda county products do measure up and that they should be used as a standard and that outside products for public use should be made to measure up to the standard of our local products."

The following resolutions were passed by the Board of Supervisors and the city officials will be asked to take similar action:

"Resolved: That it be the desire and order of this board that in all specifications for public work, and in all purchases of supplies, equipment, material and other personal property, whenever possible, an Alameda county produced product be the measure of quality and be the material supplied or equipment purchased or specified; provided, that the price, quality and fitness of such product be equal to that produced elsewhere, and that the purchasing agent, county surveyor and architect of this board be directed to carry out the spirit of this resolution."

Auto Amuck,
Gives New Gate
To City Yard

The municipal corporation yard number 2, on Bond street near Forty-sixth avenue, was presented with an ornamental gate at a late hour last night.

The gate, according to Superintendent Frank Maguire, arrived simultaneously with a small automobile, but the latter backed way eventually and left the district, though the gate remained draped around a corporation yard shed for some time. It was finally pried loose by a gang of city laborers.

The auto, according to Maguire, was parked behind a closed gate opposite the corporation yard. The driver wished to back his car further away from the gate but accidentally sent the car in the wrong direction.

Gate, driver, auto and profanity arrived at the corporation yard at the same instant. All four items are now cleared away, according to Maguire.

The flappest of flappers from Twelfth and Broadway clear to the university campus is a quiet little sit-by-the-fire compared with the flapper of a century ago, says Helen Duprey in "The Flapper Behind the Times" in Sunday's Magazine Section of The TRIBUNE.
